

Episcopal Society Starts Campaign For Beer and Wine

Prohibition Has Made Situation Worse Instead of Better, Says National Superintendent.

BEER, LIGHT WINES
WILL BE PROGRAM

Anti-Saloon League Is Assailed for Lack of 'Regard To Limits That Are Imposed by Facts.'

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
New York, February 3.—A campaign for modification of the Volstead act to legalize the use of beer and light wines, in order to save the young people of the nation, was announced today as the new policy of the Church Temperance society, composed of the clergy and lay members of the Protestant Episcopal church, by the national superintendent of the society, the Rev.
Dr. James Emory Smith.

He said a personal survey made throughout the United States for the last 18 months had convinced him
"it was impossible to legislate morals into the people," but that a campaign of education would eventually bring about that result.

Favored Modification.
Dr. Emory Smith said that a voting questionnaire sent last October to 29, 000 members of the society had revealed an "overwhelming majority in favor of modification to legalize light wines and beer," and a return to the campaign of education along lines conducted by the society prior to 1916.

Dr. Emory Smith, who is a former national vice president of the Anti-Saloon league, said that the Episcopal church had fought for prohibition, believing that policy would decrease intemperance. One year ago, he commenced the national survey in the hope of being able to prove that prohibition was an improvement over the old licensing system.

Made Situation Worse.
Stating that he was a life-long abstainer and an ardent believer in prohibition, Dr. Emory Smith said it had been his habit to confess that "prohibition has made the situation worse instead of better," adding that the law had resulted in the discontinuance of the teaching of scientific temperance by temperance societies.

He said the Volstead act should be modified "in the interests of temperance and morality," adding that the society was planning a campaign to that end.

"I am familiar with Europe," he continued, "I saw more drunken people in dry America in the last six months than I ever saw in wet France. If the money now spent in a futile attempt at enforcement were added to the revenue we might have from beer and wine, and one-tenth of this were spent to educate the people in scientific temperance, it would be more effective."

Began Change Last Month.
The society's change of policy began to take definite form last month, according to Dr. Emory Smith, with the election to the presidency of the Rev. G. A. Carstensen, of the Holy-rod Episcopal church.

Dr. Carstensen tonight said he had without reluctance accepted the presidency until the directors of the society agreed to two propositions which he had before them. First, that the prohibitory attitude of the society must be in line with the general principles of the social service commission of the church. Second, that each member of the society should be free to hold whatever opinion regarding prohibition he chose.

Commenting upon the activities of the Anti-Saloon league, Dr. Carstensen said he had found "that their methods are not distinguished by meticulous regard to limits imposed by facts." He added that the effects of drinking had been more pronounced during the past five years, in his

Scopes Asks Only To Be Let Alone In Study

Trial Is Student at University of Chicago.

(By Associated Press to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Chicago, Ill., February 3.—John Thomas Scopes, central figure in the Dayton, Tenn., evolution trial, who is now a student at the University of Chicago, in an interview today, said he wishes only to be let alone. So far, during the five months he has been at the university, he has succeeded. He has been put to the greatest effort of his career to keep from taking any commercial advantage of his publicity, he said.
"I cannot discuss those things, chiefly because I do not know enough about them myself," he said. "I haven't made any definite plans. Life is too uncertain for that."

COUNCIL TO ACT ON BARBER BAN

Reconsideration of Measure To Be Sought at Special Meeting Today.

Reconsideration of the negro barber law will be taken at a special session of city council today following an announcement that several members of council, who voted for the measure, would seek to have it brought up again with the idea of referring it to the ordinance committee of council for a public hearing. Opponents claimed that enough votes already had been pledged to assure this course.

Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, who voted for the prohibitory measure, had been informed that he would introduce a resolution requesting that council reconsider its action that a public hearing might be held.

Protests Continue.
Protests from civic, religious and commercial organizations and individuals poured into the offices of Mayor Walter A. Sims and members of council Wednesday.

Mayor Sims stated that he would await the outcome of the proposal to reconsider the measure without commitment, but promised that if the bill passed, he would reconsider it in order that a public hearing might be held.

COOLIDGE FORCES
SENATE FARM BODY TO ACT ON SHOALS

House Resolution Reported Out by Committee After President Confers With 7 Senators.

Washington, February 3.—With a degree of aggressiveness seldom seen in this administration, President Coolidge has forced the Muscle Shoals plan out of the senate agricultural committee over the opposition of Chairman Norris, Nebraska, insurgent republican, who has been holding out for government operation.

The plan reported out by the committee provides for a large joint commission of the house and senate to receive bids for private operation of Muscle Shoals to be in by April 1.
The vote was 11 to 5. It was taken shortly after President Coolidge unexpectedly called several members of the committee to the white house and urged prompt action. The house already has adopted the resolution and it now goes before the senate where Chairman Norris will attempt to bring about its defeat.

Norris Not Invited.
The seven senators called in, the two democrats, Smith, South Carolina, and Ransdell, Louisiana, voted against the administration plan.

Norris declared that the president was responsible for the committee's action.

How It Was Done.
"It is safe to say," Norris declared,
"that the committee would not have taken the action it did if it had been left alone."

This morning the president called seven members of the committee to the white house and discussed this matter with them. I do not feel discouraged over the result. In fact, I consider it remarkable that the president did not control more votes than he did. I do not expect this resolution to pass the senate. Its viciousness is now recognized by the people of the southern states and is apparent to all."

Norris says that the plan is arranged to give away to private owners a vast property worth $150,000,000 in public money.
He has heard a rumor that the bid was drawn to fit a bidder whose proposal already is prepared. He declined to name the rumored bidder.

Many Consolidations.
A series of gigantic consolidations has been going on in the business world for some time, but it has been impossible to arouse general interest in the problems of regulation created by them. Students of finance have recently revealed how the old restrictions applied to public service corporations have been evaded by holding companies and how the device of non-voting stock has robbed the investing public of control of the enterprises into which it was investing.

With the popular interest now created over the food stuffs merger, the question appears ripe for attention at Washington.

Owners of Benny's Place Finally Agree With Theater Men.

Patrons of the huge Klaw & Erlanger legitimate theater, under construction at Peachtree street and North avenue, will not witness the novelty of seeing Benny's Shoe shop enclosed in the mammoth structure upon completion.

Representing financiers of the project, Sam W. Hodges, of Griffin-Hodges Construction company, contractors in charge of the construction, has reached an agreement with the owner of the small shop. Terms of the settlement were not announced, and as Mr. Hodges was absent from the city Wednesday night, details were not learned.

The settlement stipulates that Benny's shop be removed immediately so the smaller building will not hamper further work on the theater. Upon learning of plans for the construction of the theater recently, owners of several small shops on the property agreed to move out, with the one exception. The shoe shop owner announced he would not budge unless he was paid a considerable sum for his unexpired lease.

This action failed to interfere with work on the playhouse. The owners proceeded with their plans and installed framework of the structure over the shop, encasing it. It was not until this was done that terms were agreed upon.

Planters Demand Large Reduction In Cotton Acreage

President of American Cotton Association Urges Increase in Food, Feed and Forage Crops.

COLONEL OUSLEY
CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Memphis, Tenn., February 3.—(AP) Resolutions urging a drastic reduction in cotton acreage and providing for the formation of an interstate association to supervise and bring about cotton acreage reduction and greater food, feed and forage crops, were adopted late today by the south-wide conference of cotton planters, bankers and merchants called by the American Cotton association.

Clarence Ousley, of Texas, was named to head the campaign to bring about cotton acreage reduction in 1926 and machinery was set in motion for the formation of an interstate association to carry out the purposes of the movement.

Mr. Ousley was elected by acclamation as interstate commissioner to direct the movement, and Harry D.
Wilson, of Louisiana, state commissioner of agriculture, as vice commissioner.

The resolutions were drafted by a committee headed by E. E. Richardson, of Louisiana, as chairman, and included L. B. Jackson and Harvie Jordan, of Georgia; H. D. Wilson,
Louisiana; B. C. Powell, W. M.
Wilkes, John D. Eldridge and W. M.
Nichols, Arkansas; C. A. Bradley, Leon Banks and Dr. T. Butler, Tennessee; George B. Terrell and Ed Woodall, Texas; T. S. Faulk, J. M.
Moore and W. E. Huddleston, Alabama; L. P. Woodard, North Carolina; J. W. Shelly, South Carolina;
J. R. Keaton, Oklahoma; R. M.
Weaver and Dr. W. J. Lacy, Mississippi.

The convention also adopted a resolution introduced by Mrs. W. B. Edmundson, Decatur, Ala., urging that "the manufacture of fertilizer at Muscle Shoals must be the first consideration" in the disposition of the Muscle Shoals property, and that "the rights of the American farmer be safeguarded and the original purpose of the plant be carried out."

An increase of 25 per cent in food, feed and forage crops and a similar decrease in cotton acreage was urged today by J. S. Wannamaker, president of the American Cotton association as a program essential to the welfare of the southern farmer and outlined a plan of campaign proposed

RANKIN RESIDENCE LOOTED BY THIEF

Valuable Articles of Jewelry and $50 in Cash Stolen—Finger Prints
May Prove Clue.

Detectives Wednesday night were conducting a vigorous search for a second-story burglar who broke into the home of Mrs. M. Rankin, 48 Inman circle, and escaped with $50 in currency and several valuable articles of jewelry. He gained entrance by breaking a window on the second story of the building.

In addition to the money, a valuable string of pearls, a gold pin set with 26 diamonds and a pearl-handled pistol were stolen. Police were called as soon as the robbery was discovered, and Detectives W. J. Stevens and J.
Hiram Davis investigated.

Practically no lead was found around the scene of the burglary. Detectives today will photograph finger prints found in the house in an effort to identify the burglar.

Fifty Actors in Narrow Escape As Storm Beats Movie Craft

Hollywood, Calif., February 3.—Realism challenged the imagination of this town of make-believe Wednesday when 50 tired, nerve-weakened actors related stories of 13 hours of fighting off storm-driven waters in a water-battered and obsolete wind jammer.

They told of a hysterical group of men, waist deep in water, laboring feverishly in the engine room of a tug, passing water overboard in a watering bucket line.

The old schooner Indiana was lying ten miles off San Pedro harbor late Tuesday when a terrific wind whipped the Pacific waters into mountainous crests.

A small coastwise tug was pulling the ancient wooden craft with its burden of camera men when the tow rope snapped and the Indiana was tossed by the waves toward its ship and

WOULD TAKE 30 YEARS TO COMPLETE ROAD SYSTEM
UNDER PLAN, SAYS FOR-MER MEMBER OF BOARD.

BOND ISSUE URGED BY OGDEN PERSONS

Macon, Ga., February 3.—(AP)— Characterizing the recent statements of the state highway board opposing the proposed bond issue for a system of paved roads as the "cheapest sort of politics," W. T. Anderson, former member of the board, and editor of The Macon Telegraph, told members of the Rotary club tonight that it would take 30 years to complete a road system if the plan advanced by the highway commissioners was followed.

"Preferences as to the makeup of the highway board," Mr. Anderson said, "are beside the point. What we want is paved roads. The board stated that they did not want the state to enlarge its road program as it would interfere with the labor situation. As a matter of fact there are 6,000 able-bodied convicts available for this labor, and by using this labor, much could be accomplished toward their education and betterment."

After the road program has been completed by the establishment of a state prison system. It is further stated that $12,000,000 is available under the present system for building roads
each year, and that this is sufficient.

Would Require 30 Years.
"In reality this figure, $5,500,000,
when the deductions have been made,
and this sum includes $2,000,000 of federal aid funds on such a program which would require 30 years to complete the state highways."

Mr. Anderson showed that the paved highways would be an economic benefit aside from the advertising advantage.

"An average valuation of $800 for a new car of which is assumed to last five years would make the yearly deterioration of the 200,000 automobiles in Georgia amount to $40,000,000."

Mr. Anderson said, "Careful experiment in Maryland and Kentucky in operating cars on paved and unpaved roads showed that one year could be added to the life of the car by operation over paved roads compared to its life when operated on dirt roads."
This saving alone amounts to $40, 000,000 at present it is an actual financial waste of that amount.

"There are many proposals," Mr.
Anderson continued, "for a bond issue, but the one I favor is that offered by Judge Ogden Persons, of Forsyth.
He suggests that a bond issue for $70, 000,000 or whatever sum is thought necessary be made and that a bond commission of 12 men be appointed to have absolute control of the bonds."

"They would pass on all expenditures of bonds, money used by the construction project is to be undertaken, it will be submitted to the commission which will investigate the situation and supply only the number of bonds needed."

If the department has sufficient funds to carry out the particular projects, no bonds will be issued. The British Award Gold Medals To Hero Crew

Roosevelt Captain To Be Given Piece of Plate
For His Aid.

London, February 3.—(AP)—In recognition of their splendid services in saving the crew of the British freight steamer Antiope, the king, the board of trade and Lloyd's have awarded decorations to the officers and seamen of the United States liner President Roosevelt, whose fame has been ringing around the world.

The words given in the name of the king and made in accordance with constitutional custom under the advice of the president of the board of trade, are in each case the established "gold medal for gallantry in saving life at sea."

The recipients of this decoration are
First Officers Robert Miller, Third Officer Thomas Sloan, Fourth Officer Frank M. Utton, and the crews of the rescue boats, including the two, Uno Witman and Ernest Heitman, who perished in the gallant attempt.

Although Captain Fried was so greatly concerned in the salvation of the castaways, he is not included among the recipients of the gold medals. The official announcement of the awards does not refer to this fact,
but it is understood that the conditions under which the medal is awarded confines it to those undergoing actual personal danger in the saving of life.

The honors to be conferred upon Captain Fried will, therefore, take another form. The board of trade has decided to present pieces of plate to the captain of the President Roosevelt and the three officers, Miller, Sloan, and Utton, and it is supposed that Fried will be distinguished from those to be presented to his officers by its greater value.

Washington, February 3.—Critics of the administration put in their full 12-hour day Wednesday, complaining and making suggestions regarding the coal strike, abolition of the tariff commission, institution of the new bread and food mergers, and other sundry matters.

They appeared undismayed by the attempt of President Coolidge, through his phantom spokesman, to brand current criticism of the administration as political in purpose.

In several quarters developments indicated no disposition to rest on the white house assurance that everything is well in the administrative divisions of the government and that the executive is doing all that is possible to safeguard the public interest.

Forces Out Shoals Resolution.
Nevertheless, President Coolidge won a notable victory when he forced the senate agriculture committee to report out the Muscle Shoals plan.
The white house had grown weary of the procrastination and called in several senators on the committee Wednesday. What the president said has not been revealed, as his official spokesman had gone out for a walk.
But the senators went back to the capitol—without being invited to stay for lunch—and voted out the Muscle Shoals plan, 11 to 5.

Most of the other developments of the day were less satisfying to the white house.

First—With the breakdown of the last operator-miner conference to settle the anthracite strike, pressure for federal intervention was renewed in congress in face of the president's known reluctance to act. Senator Copeland, New York, democrat, offered a resolution requesting President Coolidge to call operators and miners to the white house to urge the national importance of a strike agreement. Roosevelt and Harding ended strikes this way, Copeland said. In the house, Representative Boylan.

WASSON TO ENTER GOVERNOR'S RACE

Prominent Methodist Minister of Athens, Formerly of St. Mark's
Here, Lists Platform Planks.

Entry of the Rev. S. E. Wasson, prominent Methodist minister now stationed at Athens and formerly pastor of St. Mark's church here, in the next race for governor in the democratic primary, is probable in a short time, according to a preliminary announcement of his candidacy made Wednesday in a communication to The Constitution. Mr. Wasson stated that he is seriously considering entrance into the approaching primary as a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor and sets forth a number of planks he will put in his platform in event he makes the race.

"I think I could offer the people of Georgia an administration free from the taint of factionalism," he said.

Outstanding planks in his proposed platform are: Improvement of public schools; limitation of pardoning power of the governor; provision of a chance for every child; increasing normal temperature; veto power of the legislature; improvement of agriculture; improvement and construction of highways, and extension of invitation to capital to come to Georgia to develop the state's natural resources.

Concerning the taxation question,
Mr. Wasson said he has no panacea for the present situation. He said tax reform is vital, but he declared that it is the constitutional duty of the legislature to enact tax laws and it is the duty of the executive to approve them or veto them if the work of the legislature appeared to be fraught with danger to interests of the people.

In his statement, he said he would make known his final decision as to entry into the governor's race at a later date.

Dr. Wasson, who is about 50 years of age, came to Georgia from Oklahoma. He has served pastorates at Barnesville, one year; LaGrange, two years; Rome, four years, and St.
Mark's church here, two years. In addition, he was secretary of the Georgia state board of missions for one year. He is now serving his fourth year at Athens.

Washington, February 3.—Wible
L. Mapother, president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, died this afternoon at the Hotel Tivoli here of heart disease.

Mr. Mapother, after lunch today, returned to his rooms in the hotel, complaining that he was feeling ill.
Shortly afterward he suffered a heart attack. Medical assistance was rushed from the Ancon hospital, but Mr.
Mapother died within half an hour after he was stricken.

Mr. Mapother arrived on the Isthmus January 26 for a visit. He was accompanied by Mrs. Mapother and W. R. Cole, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, and Mrs. Cole. The party had planned to sail for the United States tomorrow on the steamer Ab-nagarrack, and the body will be taken northward by the steamer. The Panama Railroad company has tendered Mrs. Mapother a special train for transporting the body of her husband and the members of the party from Ancon to Colon to catch the steamer.

SKETCH OF CAREER OF RAIL EXECUTIVE.
Louisville, February 3.—(AP)— Wible Lawrence Mapother as a boy wanted to be a railroad man, and he became one, for during his more than 35 years of service with the Louisville & Nashville railroad he was the "youngest man" who ever held several important executive offices.

A son of D. H. and Marie Cruise
Mapother, Wible was born September 28, 1872, in Louisville on an unpretentious street, within two blocks of the street which he lived as president of the railroad.

Began As Office Boy.
At the age of 16, spurning an offer of his father to learn the electro-type's trade, Wible got a job as an office boy in the office of the secretary of the L. & N. and set about to learn the administrative side of railroading.

He learned it so thoroughly, however, that he was promoted to the position of chief clerk of the executive department, under Vice President Milton H. Smith.

During his early years with the then struggling railroad, E. K. Stein-Norton was president and J. T. Har-ahan, one of the major names of the railroad, was general manager.

291 MEN REFORM AT STATE PRISON FARM DURING 1925

Religious work at the state prison farm at Milledgeville during 1925 resulted in conversion of 291 prisoners, according to the annual report of Chaplain E. C. Atkins. He delivered his report to the commission Wednesday and was congratulated by members of that body for the splendid showing.

Dr. Atkins reported many former prisoners who were converted while serving sentences have affiliated with churches since their release and are making good records.

MORE ATTRACTIONS URGED FOR FARMERS

To make life of farmers so attractive that cities will hold no lure is the aim of the extension division of the United States department of agriculture, according to C. W. Warburton, director of the division, in an address delivered at the final session of the three-day conference of Southern Agricultural Extension workers at the Ansley hotel Wednesday.

If the program of agricultural education as devised succeeds, Mr. Warburton said, the country will be a better place in which to live, economically and sociologically, than any urban community.

All federal and state agencies are cooperating in this effort, and its advantages are seen in easier work and consequent ability to expand its scope, which extension workers are enjoying, the speaker said.

The conference ended at noon Wednesday. Printed copies of a summary of the meeting will be sent to every person present in a few weeks, it was announced by O. E. Martain, chairman and field extension agent for the south.

ASSOCIATED PRESS MEMBERS IN STATE WILL MEET HERE

Members of The Associated Press in Georgia will meet in Atlanta February 10, when Kent Cooper, general manager of The Associated Press, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker.

R. L. McKenney, president and general manager of the Macon News, will preside over the meeting as president of the state organization of Associated Press members. The sessions will be held at the Capital City club. The morning business meeting will be followed by a luncheon and theater party, during which the editors will be guests of The Atlanta Constitution, attending a matinee box party at the Atlanta theater.

The business session will be devoted to trade and a discussion of methods for improving the service in the state. Plans by which the newspapers of the state will match Georgia's strides industrially, commercially and agriculturally will be discussed.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MANNING TODAY

John Augustus Manning, 64, former deputy sheriff of Fulton county, will be laid to rest this afternoon in West View cemetery, with funeral services at 2 o'clock at the Woodward Avenue Baptist church. The Rev. T. T. Davis and the Rev. Brookshire will officiate.

Gus Manning, as he was known throughout Fulton county in his long service as deputy sheriff, was a popular worker in the Woodward Avenue Baptist church, a member of Atlanta lodge, No. 59, F. & A. M., a member of the Shrine, a Knight Templar and an active member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Mr. Manning was a deputy sheriff for nine years, and was one of the first deputies to run for office with Sheriff James I. Lowry. Before he became a deputy sheriff, Mr. Manning was for more than 30 years an engineer on the Western and Atlantic railroad. He was severely scalded in a wreck in 1914. The death of Mr. Manning was attributed to heart disease. He suffered the fatal attack late Tuesday night, dying Wednesday morning.

He is survived by his widow, four daughters, Mrs. Carrie Camp, Mrs. Irene Murphy, Miss Lois Manning, and Mrs. J. B. McConnell; three sons, L. A., Barney and Ray Manning; three sisters, Mrs. M. A. Mrs. Leo Hutchins, of Conley, and Mrs. Forrest Echols, of Macon, and six grandchildren.

Members of Atlanta lodge of Masons will act as pallbearers. Barclay & Brandon in charge.

PALESTINE APEAL TO GAIN IMPETUS AT MASS MEETING

Maurice Samuel, noted author, whose book, "You Gentiles," created a sensation last year, will speak in the interest of the United Palestine appeal campaign for $5,000,000 at a mass meeting tonight at the Atlanta theater.

In addition to Mr. Samuel's address, Mrs. Archibald Silverman, Jewish philanthropist, of Providence, R. I., and Mayor Walter A. Sims will speak. A musical program will be rendered by Miss Minna Rucker, Atlanta soprano.

The Palestine appeal fund for the year 1925-26 is headed by Dr. Stephen S. Wise and is issued on behalf of the Keren Hayesod (Palestine Foundation fund.) The Atlanta drive is directed by J. Saul, and other officers are: M. Rich, chairman executive committee; Rabbi Tobias Geffen, Rabbi Abraham P. Hirmes, honorary vice chairman; J. Dorfman, L. J. Levitas, Mrs. Samuel E. Levy, I. J. Paradise, Mollie Rittenbaum, vice chairman; Henry N. Kennedy, treasurer; Morris Lichtenstein, associate treasurer, and M. Sheinbaum, secretary.

MUSIC TO FEATURE FIFTH WARD MEET

The Fifth Ward Civic league will hold its regular meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the English Avenue school auditorium. A special musical program will be rendered and several speakers will talk on matters of local interest.

COMMITTEE TO DECIDE GRADY FIGHT FRIDAY

Charges of inefficiency and disruption of authority and demand for resignation of the entire staff of Grady hospital white unit will come before the hospital and charities committee of city council Friday night, when the body holds an adjourned meeting to make final disposition of a petition setting out the complaints.

The petition, signed by 39 leading Atlanta physicians and surgeons, attached to the hospital, was presented to the committee at a special session Tuesday night, but decision was postponed in order to give the four doctors, said to control the hospital, time to answer the charges. The doctors are: Dr. Garnett (Quilliam) Dr. Frank Eskridge, Dr. T. C. Davidson and Dr. H. R. Donaldson.

While they declined to issue an answer prior to the meeting of Friday night, it was understood they will deny all allegations in the petition and will claim that all changes were made for the "good of the service."

Doctors whose names were appended are: Marion T. Benson, Marshall R. Sims, W. F. Wells, Theo. Toepel, E. W. Allen, F. Caldwell, W. A. Upchurch, C. A. Rhodes, J. E. Sommerfield, N. W. Baird, R. B. PLANS ARE RECEIVED FOR BIG MACY STORE

Plans for the new department store of Davidson-Paxon-Stokes company, affiliated with R. H. Macy company of New York, have arrived in Atlanta and will at once be posted for bids, it was announced Wednesday by Howard Candler, who is interested in the project.

The plans for the building at Peachtree and Ellis streets call for a six-story concrete structure. A large force of workers will start work on the building as soon as the contract is awarded. Sub-bids will be asked for plumbing, electrical equipment and other special work.

Excavation work is nearing completion and details concerning the construction were completed last month at a number of conferences of the company's officials.

If You Want Rapid Transit ACT NOW!

Our RAPID TRANSIT PETITION has been set for hearings before the State Public Service Commission, beginning WEDNESDAY, February 10th. This is an improvement which Atlanta needs, but the proposed changes in car stops for the purpose of speeding up the street car service may be defeated unless the citizens of Atlanta give their active support to the petition.

Slow street car service won't do in a city of Atlanta's size, but Atlanta can NEVER have Rapid Transit unless the large number of unnecessary car stops are eliminated.

Won't you help bring about this greatly needed improvement?

Everyone seems to favor Rapid Transit except the few who are willing to sacrifice the entire program in order to save their pet stops, but they are making a strong fight. And they may succeed in blocking this improvement, unless the other car riders let the Commissioners know they want Faster service.

If possible, attend the hearings and tell the Commissioners you want Rapid Transit, or write or phone the Commissioners at the State Capitol, but DON'T DELAY!

For Over 60 Years Supplying the Business World With Competent Bookkeepers and Stenographers, That Is the Record of The Southern Shorthand and Business University

A Great Firm Commends In Strong Terms The Graduates of The Southern

Davison - Paxton - Stokes Company, Affiliated With R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., New York City, Say They Are Courteous, Pains-taking, Satisfactory.

"A tree is known by its fruit," a business school by the efficiency of the students it sends out to the business world.

No greater compliment was ever paid to an institution and none more highly appreciated than that contained in a letter received by the management of the Southern Business College from Colonel F. J. Paxton, one of the members of one of the south's greatest mercantile establishments, the Davison-Paxton-Stokes company, affiliated with R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., New York City.

It is indeed gratifying to the managers of the Southern Shorthand and Business University that the firms employing its graduates that they are efficient and satisfactory in a large measure. The letter of Colonel Paxton, which is presented below, speaks volumes in praise of the Southern's students:

Atlanta, Ga., January 28, 1926.

Mr. L. W. Arnold, President, Southern Shorthand and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Arnold: You asked my opinion of the Southern Shorthand and Business University.

It is a pleasure as well as a privilege to state that I know of no business college in the south that stands higher than your university.

Whenever this corporation needs typists, stenographers or bookkeepers, we find we can always get just what we want from your organization.

The type of your students is the very highest. We find them uniformly courteous, pains-taking, giving satisfaction in all their work, and giving the fundamental principles of business, you teach them something more, i. e., courtesy and consideration of others.

Yours very truly,

F. J. PAXTON.

Training Needed

A young man from Gwinnett county enrolled for a business course at the Southern Business college. When he entered he stated to the president that he had been looking for a position for several weeks, but could not secure a place because he had received no business training.

The commercial establishment or educational institution that makes for itself a reputation for fair dealing, for strict honesty, for courtesy and for a proper appraisal of the patrons' rights and privileges, builds the kind of friendship that sends to it people who have never patronized it before, together with their friends.

This has been the policy of the Southern Shorthand and Business University, and the fact that its patronage has increased from a yearly attendance of about 60 pupils, when Messrs. Briscoe and Arnold merged the Southern School of Shorthand with Moore's Business college, to its present enrollment of over 1,000 pupils every year, overwhelmingly proves that it is wisdom on the part of any concern to pursue such a policy.

Former Superintendent Atlanta Public Schools Commends Discipline

Prof. W. M. Slaton, Well-Known Throughout the South, Writes Most Interestingly About the Southern.

I have had occasion to visit and study your business university. As one who had spent his life in educational work, I was delighted to find your splendid organization, its thoroughness, the ability of your faculty, the excellent discipline and the cheerful and enthusiastic spirit of your student body. Your large patronage demonstrates the popularity of your college.

I congratulate you and the state on your magnificent achievement.

Very truly yours,

WILLIAM M. SLATON.

COMMERCIAL EDUCATION NOW NECESSARY ASSET

Years ago the commercial school was sometimes called a "clerk factory." It was supposed to be a school in which in three or four months a student could acquire enough knowledge of bookkeeping, penmanship, and arithmetic to serve as a clerk in a business office where he was supposed to complete his business education.

Today the training provided in the private business school does more than to fit the student for a vocation—it educates him.

There is just as much cultural value in the study of bookkeeping as there is in the study of geometry—just as much disciplinary value in the mastery of business letter writing as there is in the mastery of Latin.

The greatest occupation in the world today is business. It takes the time, the attention, and the talents of more people than any other calling with the possible exception of agriculture, and the 1920 census shows fifty-four million people living in cities and fifty-two million living in the country.

The young man who studies the history of business, business organization, transportation, merchandising, commercial law, accounting and business English, adds just as much to his mental power as does the one who spends the same length of time on the "ologies and sophies" listed for the classical university course.

The young woman who studies shorthand and typewriting serves her best interests in more ways than one—she not only receives the right kind of discipline, but she also masters an art by which the door of opportunity is opened.

AN EDUCATION BRINGS $24,000 GREATER INCOME

The uneducated person earns an average of $600 a year, and has a working period of 40 years. The means an earning ability of $24,000.

The educated person earns an average of $1,200 a year for 40 years, or $48,000 in a lifetime.

The difference in the total earnings of the two classes is $24,000.

If the difference were measurable in money only, it would be worth while to be educated, but think of what it means in added capacity for enjoying life, in enlarged opportunities for culture, in better living conditions, in social standing in the field of public service—in a thousand ways.

And see how little it costs!

For our typical educated boy or girl, let us start with the high school of four years, with a business course of a scholastic year, nine months added. The full course in the Southern Shorthand and Business University runs from seven to nine months, making a total of about five years in both schools.

If five years in school will make a difference in earning ability of $24,000, a year in school must be worth $4,800, and a month $480!

It is hardly probable that even the brightest, keenest boy or girl can make that much money any other way, is it? Figure this over for yourself—then try to decide whether you can afford to start your life-work handicapped by the lack of education—to start with a fixed charge of $24,000 levied against your earning power—the price of ignorance.

Of course there are many graduates of the Southern who are making from $5,000 to $10,000 a year, but the foregoing estimate of income is a conservative average.

THE SOUTHERN'S DEPT. OF BUSINESS ENGLISH

It is the aim of the Southern to teach thoroughly those things which are essential to the writing of grammatically correct English. It offers a practical course of English grammar, a very thorough course in punctuation and special instruction on the "Business Letter."

I am sure that the student who is lacking in previous education in this branch a chance to perfect his knowledge of English and prepare himself for a competent correspondence. It offers to the high school and college graduate an opportunity to learn that English which will be needed in a business career.

Obtained Fine Position Through Southern's Employment Department

Atlanta, Ga., January 28, 1926.

Southern Shorthand and Business University, 56 Whitehall Street, Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen: Since I left school to accept the splendid position obtained through your Employment Department, I often think of the pleasant days I spent while attending the Southern.

I am now with the Southern Loan & Real Estate Corporation as Cashier, Bookkeeper, and without your Bookkeeping and Banking Course, I could not handle the work I am now doing.

Always with best wishes, I am,

Sincerely yours,

C. S. LINDLEY.

HER COURSE MADE IT POSSIBLE TO HOLD A GOOD POSITION

Atlanta, Ga., January 29, 1926.

Southern Shorthand and Business University, 56 Whitehall Street, Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen: It gives me much pleasure to state that I completed a business course in the Southern Shorthand and Business University in 1925. Since then I have been holding a position with a branch of one of the most prominent business concerns in the country, the Federal Motor Truck Sales Corporation.

Your course of instruction made it possible for me to obtain and hold this position, and I can heartily recommend your University to anyone seeking a business education.

Yours very truly,

ELSIE HANSEN.

Says None in United States Will Compare With the Southern

Mr. J. L. Nichols, representative of a large manufacturing concern, after a visit through the new Southern Business college, wrote an interesting letter to the management, from which the following is quoted:

"It was with great pleasure and astonishment that, in my travels all over the United States, having visited many institutions of like character none have come under my observation that in any way compare with the Southern Shorthand and Business University of Atlanta.

"In our immediate family there is a judge, a court reporter, an architect, a contractor, and a manufacturer, and each one started out in life as a stenographer. It is the best stepping stone to big things of which I know. The individuality and characteristics of successful men are implanted in the system of a stenographer by close contact with the best business men of the time, and the knowledge of shorthand is a legacy that cannot be taken away.

"I shall always have a tender spot in my heart for the Southern Shorthand and Business University, and my appreciation is unbounded."

FOUNDED BIG BUSINESS ON BUSINESS TRAINING

Arthur Hardaker, With Ambition and a Business Education, Became a Big Lumber Dealer.

If proof were needed of the statement that this is the age of young people in business, or that a man or woman's success is limited to his or her own ambition, the remarkable story of Arthur Hardaker would amply furnish such proof.

When Mr. Hardaker sold out all his earthly possessions in south Florida and came to Atlanta with enough money to pay for tuition and board, he entered the Southern Shorthand and Business University and began a business training course with but one idea in mind, and that was "determination to succeed."

He possessed ambition, energy and a common school education. Since completing his course in bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, commercial arithmetic, banking, etc., his success has been phenomenal. The employment department of the Southern placed Mr. Hardaker in his first position as bookkeeper and cashier for one of the leading hotels in Atlanta, at a salary of $125 a month and board. He saved his money, invested it wisely and it brought returns rapidly. Now, he is one of the largest and most successful lumber merchants in Florida, receiving large orders, not only from his own state, but from all parts of the United States.

SUBJECTS TAUGHT AT THE SOUTHERN

The various courses taught at the Southern Shorthand and Business University include bookkeeping, commercial law, banking, business arithmetic, penmanship, public accounting and auditing, shorthand, typewriting, reporting, business English, spelling, correspondence, salesmanship and business efficiency.

A pupil may take any or all of these branches as the school offers a large and capable faculty.

Pupils entering from out of town are met at the train, when so desired, and assisted in securing desirable boarding places.

One of the Southern's special representatives will call upon any one, in or out of Atlanta, who may desire information in detail about the school.

Graduates Have Risen To Eminence

The firm of J. L. Riley & Co., known throughout the south as one of the most important insurance companies, employs something like twenty young men and young women who were trained for business at the Southern Shorthand and Business university.

A Tribute to Mr. A. C. Briscoe

No finer tribute could be paid to any man than to have the institution of which he was head and in whose success he was so vitally interested, carry on absolutely unchanged after his passing, and so, well was this institution organized, that it is being carried on and, as was planned by Mr. Briscoe and Mr. Arnold for 1926, going forward to bigger, better things, with no change in personnel or methods—with the same high and lofty purposes that have always been its goal.

Mr. Briscoe's Christian influence will always live and permeate every department of the Southern Business college, and this alone will be a potent factor in bringing young people to this school.

Graduates Praise Southern's Employment Department for Splendid Positions Obtained

The Thorough Training Keeps Demand Greater Than Supply.

We receive daily a number of letters of thanks and praise from students who have been trained by this institution sometime or other during the past 60 years. Many, many thousands have gone out into the business world to successful positions and in the firms have been advanced to department heads, store managers and even presidents of the company.

From the correspondence of the past several days we select a few letters of late graduates who have been well placed in the business world.

CONSIDERS THE SOUTHERN BEST IN THE SOUTH

College Park, Ga., January 30, 1926.

Mr. L. W. Arnold, Southern Shorthand and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Mr. Arnold: It is with pleasure that I recall the time I spent at the Southern Shorthand and Business University. I wish to thank you and your associate teachers for the personal interest shown me. The careful training that I received at your school has enabled me to make rapid advancement in the business world.

I consider the Southern Business College the best of its kind in the south, and never fail to recommend it to those who are contemplating taking business training.

Yours continued success, I am,

Yours respectfully,

CLARICE SPAKE.

CREDITS THE SOUTHERN WITH HER SUCCESS

Atlanta, Ga., January 30, 1926.

Mr. L. W. Arnold, President, Southern Business College, Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Mr. Arnold: I feel that you will be interested to know how well pleased I am with the course I took at the Southern Shorthand and Business University.

I entered your college on the first of February, 1925, and I have been holding a position for several months with a very reliable and progressive firm.

I want you to know that I credit my success to the training I received at your school.

Yours very truly,

VELTA M'GINTY.

Thanks the Southern For Securing Him a Splendid Position

Atlanta, Ga., January 28, 1926.

Mr. L. W. Arnold, President, Southern Shorthand and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Dear Sir: A few lines to express my appreciation and thanks for the many courtesies extended me while a pupil in your valued school. Also to thank you for the splendid position you secured for me with the Atlantic Ice & Coal Company.

I believe anyone contemplating taking a business course should take into consideration many things—a capable corps of instructors, a modern school building, and last, but not least, a reputable school—all of which will be found at the Southern.

Again thanking you, and wishing the Southern continued success, I remain,

Very truly yours,

LEE WELLS.

Her Course the Most Profitable Period Of Her Life

414 101 Building, Atlanta, Ga., January 28, 1926.

Southern Shorthand and Business University, 56 Whitehall Street, Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen: This is just an expression of my thanks and appreciation to you for the many benefits I received and the kindness shown me while attending your school. I consider the four months that it took me to complete my course there the most profitable, periods of my life. You have, without doubt, the best equipped business college, together with one of the best faculties, that can be found anywhere in this beautiful Southland of ours.

I now hold a splendid position as stenographer and secretary, and am enjoying my work better each day, for which I give due credit to the training I received there. My advice to all ambitious boys and girls who wish to achieve success in the business world is: "Go to the Southern Shorthand and Business University."

Sincerely yours,

SARAH BRANAN.

SOUTHERN ADVANTAGES QUICKLY EXPLAINED

With a large, efficient and enthusiastic faculty; handsomely equipped and commodious quarters; with furniture and fixtures which cost many thousands of dollars, including the Burroughs Bookkeeping and Adding machines, multigraphs, 110 model typewriting machines, with a nationwide reputation for progressiveness, and the indorsement of eight-tenths of Atlanta's prominent business men and bankers; with systems and methods which develop expert stenographers and efficient bookkeepers, making them accustomed to the noise and hustle which are always in evidence around big business establishments.

LOCATED IN THE HEART OF ATLANTA

A business school is the counterpart of a business house. It should, therefore, be in the center of the city among the large and progressive business houses, where the pupils may see commerce in full action, and become accustomed to the noise and hustle which are always in evidence around big business establishments.

The Southern Business college is located right in the heart of Atlanta's business center, 56 Whitehall street, about midway between the two railroad stations, which makes it unusually convenient for out-of-town pupils who go back and forth to their homes daily on the suburban trains.

A Free Course in Business Efficiency and Salesmanship

Pupils entering the Southern Business college for the complete shorthand course or complete bookkeeping course, may take the salesmanship course free of charge.

This course develops better stenographers and bookkeepers and makes them more valuable. It is taken simultaneously with the other course, hence it does not lengthen the pupil's stay in school.

Enroll now and be ready to join the next class in salesmanship and business efficiency, which will be organized in about two weeks.

SEVEN FROM ONE FAMILY TAKE THE SOUTHERN'S COURSE

It's true of business that "there's no better advertisement than a pleased customer."

Mrs. Imogen Tupper sent a son to the Southern for a business course. He succeeded well. Then others followed until seven members of that family had obtained a thorough business education at the Southern. They have all been very successful in business, one having written a book on "Finance," which is being used by large banking institutions.

Mrs. Tupper is well-known throughout this state, being the widow of the late Dr. T. C. Tupper, who was at one time pastor of the St. Philip's Episcopal church of Atlanta.

Big Florida Firm Has Employed Over 40 Pupils From Southern in 8 Months

Florida Southern Abstract and Title Company Says the Southern Is the Best Business School in the South.

About eight months ago the Florida Southern Abstract & Title Co., one of the largest concerns of its kind in the state of Florida, applied to the Southern Business college for 25 young ladies for office work. The employment department had only 15 who were ready for work, so that many were sent. Since then the Florida concern has called from time to time for additional office help until more than 40 stenographers and typists have been employed from the Southern, and now that firm always calls upon this school when in need of stenographers, believing that its best interests are served by so doing.

No wonder then that, with such evidence as given by this big firm, and by Colonel F. J. Paxton, of the important firm of Davison-Paxton-Stokes company, the Southern's students are highly efficient and eminently satisfactory, the popularity of this school is so widespread and is increasing day by day.

No wonder that so large a majority of the young men and young women in the south who want a business education are getting it, and are planning to get it, at the Southern Business college.

The letter from the Florida Southern Abstract & Title Co., which is presented below, tells an important and interesting story to all young people who are in need of preparation for entering the business world:

Winter Haven, Fla., February 1, 1926.

Southern Shorthand and Business University, Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen—Many of our employees received their training in the Southern Shorthand and Business university. During the past eight months we have employed 40-odd stenographers from your school, practically all of whom are still with us.

We are more than pleased with their work. You surely have a wonderful faculty to obtain the results shown.

We believe your school to be the best of its kind in the south.

Yours very truly,

FLORIDA SOUTHERN ABSTRACT TITLE CO.

ONE BIG BANK EMPLOYS 17 FROM THE SOUTHERN

The Southern Shorthand and Business university has for many years furnished nearly all the banking institutions in Atlanta with a goodly number of their bookkeepers, stenographers and clerical help.

At this time seventeen of the employees of the Atlanta and Lowry National bank, one of the largest and most important banks in the south, belong to the alumni of the Southern. Among these are vice presidents, assistant cashiers, bookkeepers, department managers, etc.

How Southern Receives Pupils Every Monday

Many prospective students say to the managers of the Southern, "How can you admit students each Monday and teach them satisfactorily?"

This is how: It does not rely by any means upon class instruction in its work, but undertakes to combine the class method and the personal method of teaching in such way as to enable it to give each student the precise instruction that will be of most value to him. This is accomplished through the maintenance of an adequate faculty, many small classes, and much personal instruction.

The Southern has a system of promotion by which it advances students able to do superior work into classes that move more and more rapidly, so that every student has the opportunity at all times to make progress in keeping with his ability and industry.

That's why we invite you to enter school any Monday with the assurance that you will find classes that will precisely meet your needs.

WORLD'S RECORD MADE AT THE SOUTHERN

Herman D. Strauss, of Albany, Ga., learned to write 125 words a minute in shorthand within a period of 30 days, at the Southern Business college. This record is held so far as statistics show. Of course this was a remarkable case, but it shows what is possible with a good pupil in a good school.

General Information

Pupils may enroll any Monday. Board for ladies from $20 to $35 per month, and for young men from $25 to $35.

GOVERNOR RITCHIE ASKS THIRD TERM

Baltimore, February 3.—(AP)—Albert C. Ritchie would rather be governor of Maryland than a United States senator. Assured of the democratic nomination without opposition for the United States senate, he announced that his hat is in the ring for a third term in the executive mansion in an address tonight before the Eleventh Ward Democratic club.

Friends of the governor said he had made up his mind to enter the gubernatorial race again before the first of the year, but had postponed the public announcement because of his desire not to unduly prolong the campaign. Two other democratic aspirants are now in the field—State Comptroller W. S. Gordy, and W. M.

How He Helps His Fellow Men

"I want to tell you how much I do love Peterson's Ointment for the good it has done me. My sore was on my left leg, was 4 1/2 inches by 2 1/2 inches wide—is all healed up beautifully now and then it was so sore on such a raw sore. I can't say enough praise for the good it has done me and will say a good word in your sales favor." Very truly yours, Miss Kate Kull, Sigel, Ill.

"I'd rather get a letter like that," says Peterson, of Buffalo, "than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow man."

"For years I have been suffering through druggists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 90 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic; piles that other remedies do not even relieve are speedily conquered."

The mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment quickly clears the skin of all rashes, pimples and blemishes. Peterson Ointment Co., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv.)

Maloy, former chairman of the public service commission. The decision was hailed as "an unprecedented political step" by the governor's associates, who point out that Governor Ritchie has served Maryland seven years to date—a greater length of time than any governor now in office in the country; that if reelected, he will be awarded a record for 12 consecutive years—longer than any governor of any state in the country's history; and that it is "one of the few times on record that a man de-liberately chooses to be governor in preference to being senator."

Governor Ritchie is Maryland's first executive to serve more than one term. Until 1923, when he was re-elected by an unprecedented majority, it had been an unbroken rule that no governor should be returned to the executive mansion.

The governor made it plain that his decision was due to sentiment—both state and personal.

As to the former, he has received petitions from the democratic organizations of the city of Baltimore and of 12 of Maryland's 23 counties, out of the city of Baltimore, asking that he run for a third term.

In summarizing his stand on state problems, Governor Ritchie said: "I am opposed to the Volstead law as a state enforcement measure. 'I am opposed to the ratification of the child labor amendment, because I believe that the welfare of the child is much better served if each state has the responsibility of passing its own needed legislation in conformity with its own labor conditions, and because I do not want a federal bureau to fit children to bureaucratic standards."

WIBLE L. MAPOTHER DIES IN PANAMA

at the age of 32, he became the youngest man ever to hold such a position. Nine years later, on October 7, 1911, he was elevated to the directorate of the road.

William G. McAuliffe, war-time director general of the United States railroad administration, appointed Mr. Mapother federal manager, with supervision over the operations of the L. & N., Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis railway, Birmingham and Northwestern railway, Atlanta and West Point railway, Western Railway of Alabama and certain terminal properties. In appointing Mr. Mapother, Mr. McAuliffe temporarily deposited the veteran president of the L. & N.

After the dissolution of the railroad administration following the war, Mr. Mapother was elected executive vice president in March, 1920, and one year later, March 17, 1921, he was elected president to succeed Mr. Smith, who had died a month before.

Mr. Mapother was 49 years old, and railroad men here said at the time that he was the youngest chief executive in the country.

Mr. Smith had a marked aversion to publicity both for himself and for the railroad. Mr. Mapother inherited that aversion, in so far as it pertained to himself, but he realized the importance of it for the railroad. Subordinate officers were willing to talk about the road, whether the "news" was good or bad, but they were silent concerning their chief.

Strongly Anti-Union.
Also like Mr. Smith, Mapother was strongly anti-union. During the period of government control, Mr. Mapother admitted that the railroad brotherhoods and affiliated unions made some headway in organizing L. & N. employees, but during the strike he felt that the situation in characteristically style.

"Briefly, 'seniority' is nothing more or less than priority or preference of employment based upon length of service," Mr. Mapother said in a statement to striking workmen. Their failure to return to work at a specified time, he said, had caused them to forfeit their seniority.

Mr. Mapother married Miss Amelia Porter, of Anchorage, Ky. They had one daughter, Mrs. Leonard Stratter, mother of many clubs.

Mr. Mapother was a director of the American Railway association and a member of the executive committee of the Association of Railway executives. He also was a member of the Kentucky, Tennessee, River Valley and Louisville country clubs.

When not working hard, the railroad head was playing hard at fishing, hunting and golfing. He also was fond of baseball, having been a good player as a boy.

Persistently contending that his rise to the presidency of the road was not remarkable, he had no short cut or fixed formula for success.

The chief of approximately 55,000 employees, Mr. Mapother said that no two boys were alike in makeup, and what would apply to one would not apply to another.

"Every man is the architect of his own life," he said. "He must divide what he will build and how he will build it. The thing that applies to all fields, however, is the fact he must plan well and build substantially if he would produce a structure worth while."

Child Is Killed, 2 Seriously Hurt In Florida Storm

Lake Worth, Fla., February 3.—Two persons remained in hospitals and scores were homeless Wednesday night following a tornado which struck Green Acres near here, shortly after daybreak, killing one child, injuring scores and leaving the village in ruins.

E. W. Davis, 13 years old, and D. R. Driscoll, an uncle of the 11-month-old infant who was killed, were still in a serious condition, but it was believed they would live.

The tornado, after finishing its work of destruction in Green Acres, struck Green Acres near here, shortly after daybreak, killing one child, injuring scores and leaving the village in ruins.

Lake Worth residents have taken homeless families into their homes and are providing lodging and food temporarily.

Commenting upon the way in which the society intends to go about its campaign for temperance education, Dr. Empringham said:

"The eighteenth amendment itself sounded the death knell of prohibition, because we all quit. The W. C. T. U. ourselves and others stopped our educational work because we forgot that you cannot legislate temperance."

The Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church, is listed as patron of the society.

The honorary vice presidents include: The Rt. Rev. Reginald H. Weller, bishop of Fond du Lac, Wis.; the Rt. Rev. John C. Ward, bishop of Erie, Pa.; the Rt. Rev. Theodor P. Thurston, bishop of Oklahoma; the Rt. Rev. William L. Gravatt, bishop of West Virginia; the Rt. Rev. Charles E. Woodcock, bishop of Kentucky; the Rt. Rev. Philip Cook, bishop of Delaware; the Rt. Rev. Lewis W. Burton, bishop of Lexington, Ky.; and the Rt. Rev. Robert C. Jett, bishop of southwestern Virginia.

WAYNE B. WHEELER REGRETS STATEMENT.

Washington, February 3.—(AP)—Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, has disclaimed statements made by Rev. Dr. James Empringham, national secretary of the Church Temperance Society of the Episcopal church, in announcing the decision of his organization to work for modification of the Volstead act.

"I did not telephone to Dr. Empringham," he said. "I did request him by written communication to withhold any report which would be heard and give them reasons why the law should not be modified. I did not say that their report would be untrue, but I did say that because no truthful report can show this."

Regrets Statement.
"It is regrettable that a statement by the secretary of the temperance committee of the Episcopal church in New York advises modification of the national prohibition act on the ground that the law is not working satisfactorily. Evidence from New York, signally failing to accept its obligation to enforce the constitution, does not have great weight with other states which are loyal to the constitution."

"I am amazed that they advocate modification of the law to permit light wines and beer. This is the brewers' program, and not the program of the churches that won the fight for prohibition and are fighting for its enforcement."

"None of the church denominations which officially supported the Anti-Saloon league in securing the eighteenth amendment have back-tracked, and I believe more Episcopals are in favor of prohibition today than heretofore."

Backed by Business Men.
"Business authorities such as Hoover, Gary, Ford, Scott, Bacon, etc., declare prohibition an essential element in our prosperity. An unobserved, unenforced law would not achieve this."

"This salutary law," as the president recently called it, should have the support of every church denomination and every citizen of the United States. It did not give its official support to securing national prohibition should hesitate to embarrass its sister denominations which did make the sacrifice to secure this great moral victory, and are keeping up the fight to make its enforcement more effective year by year."

furnish labor and rock for the project to an amount not to exceed $300,000. The project when completed would give Atlanta another 50-foot boulevard running north and south which would aid materially to relieve traffic congestion in that section of the city.

Expenditures in improvements made last year by the commission amounted to approximately $1,600,000, according to Mr. Johnson. "This year the budget of the public works department has been cut $750,000," he said.

In this connection, Commissioner Johnson declared that he intended to hold the amount expended on improvements throughout the year within the budget, adding that the county would be glad to furnish labor and rock to various projects provided that arrangements be made by parties interested to furnish other necessary materials.

Large Asks Aid.
Postmaster E. K. Large asked assistance in the new house-numbering system for the city which was recently adopted by the city council. He explained that cooperation of the county at this time would facilitate installation of the new system, house numbering which will be a vast improvement over the present one.

H. N. Hurt, county highway engineer, was instructed to confer with city engineers and others to cooperate in the movement.

A motion to designate a special tax for schools of 1 mill was unanimously adopted following a request by Superintendent of County Schools, J. M. Wells, superintendent of county schools. This is the usual amount designated each year.

No More Negroes Will Be Placed In Hospital 48

Washington, D. C., February 3.—(Special.)—No more negroes will ever be placed in the Veterans' Bureau hospital 48, at Atlanta, Director Hines, of the bureau, has assured Representative Upshaw, who has secured removal of those who have been there.

Upshaw was very much gratified Wednesday to learn from the bureau that the last negro at the Atlanta hospital had been removed and sent to Tuskegee, Ala. Members of the Georgia delegation congratulated him upon the success of his efforts.

He sent a telegram to Mrs. R. K. Rambo, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, who had requested him to take up the question with the veterans' bureau, notifying her that the last negro had been removed.

In a statement issued here Wednesday, Upshaw said: "Heartiest congratulations are due Mrs. Rambo, president."

"General Hines, of the veterans' bureau, has agreed to remove the last negro patient of hospital 48, and due our thanks for seeing so readily the viewpoint of these splendid women citizens in their efforts to secure the removal of the last negro from hospital 48, but he was eliminating all ground for friction."

Second—Resolutions calling upon congress to abolish the tariff commission and investigate its activities were adopted by the national board of farm organizations here. Tariff protection on agricultural products suffering from foreign competition and legislation to protect farmers with exportable surplus crops were asked.

Third—Investigation by the senate of recent mergers to control food stuffs was asked by Senator La Follette, who deplored the failure of the department of justice to take any aggressive action.

Fourth—The middle west feels considerable apprehension over the senate decision to enter the world court, President Coolidge was advised by Frank Morrell, of the war finance corporation and former republican floor leader in congress.

Walsh to Push Probe.
Fifth.—Senator Walsh indicated he will attempt to force the senate judiciary committee Thursday to recommend complete investigation of prosecutions to determine whether sufficient vigor has been used. If Senator Walsh gets his investigation, it is probable that he will force the inquiry into the whole question of giant mergers raised by the food stuffs committee and the long series of holding companies which has been set up in the last two years.

All of these questions, and the political attacks which are inevitable from now on, probably will compel the president to make several public speeches which he had not expected to make. His next engagement is for July 4, but some speeches probably will be made soon to answer criticisms that are becoming more insistent.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the germ and checks the growth of the germ.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

REVOLT IN PORTUGAL QUICKLY SUPPRESSED

Lisbon, Portugal, February 3.—(AP)—A revolutionary movement which began at dawn yesterday was suppressed today by the voluntary surrender of the revolutionists. They capitulated when they found the support promised them had failed.

In the meantime, Lisbon was shelled, apparently without much damage being done, and the insurgents were subjected to a cross fire from the guns of the loyal troops. The movement included both soldiers and civilians, and was under the direction of Major Laocadia Almeida, of the gunnery school at Vendas Novas.

At the time, President Machado was absent from Lisbon, visiting in the northern section, but he returned last night, and immediately put into operation effective measures to put down the revolt.

After the experiences of yesterday, a pitched battle with the revolutionists was expected this morning. But when called upon to surrender, with the threat of being shelled out, they hoisted the white flag. A report current that the commanding officer at Vendas Novas was killed is declared to be untrue.

ANDERSON RAPS PLAN OF ROAD COMMISSION

ROAD BOND ISSUE URGED BY PERSONS.
Jackson, Ga., February 3.—(Special.)—Speaking to the Kiwanis club of Jackson Tuesday night, Judge Osden Persons, of Forsyth, judge of supreme court, urged that the legislature at the approaching extraordinary session should provide for a state-wide bond issue for road improvement and create a strong non-partisan, non-political bond commission to supervise the expenditure of the funds.

Failing to do that, the general assembly should make a constitutional provision that every dollar collected from automobile license tags and gasoline tax should be used on the highways of the state. The gasoline money has been used for other purposes, Judge Persons declared, and he charged that the automobile owners are the heaviest taxed people on earth today.

"Georgia has no definite road policy," Judge Persons said. "Everybody is agreed that Georgia needs hard surfaced roads, and the only question at issue is the method to be employed in securing them."

For the legislature to fail to measure up to its full responsibility will prove calamitous for Georgia, said the speaker. He urged civic clubs and business men everywhere to give this matter serious consideration. Members of the general assembly were urged to support the governor's platform of better highways, better schools and prompt payment of Confederate pensions.

Mr. Wannamaker, delivering the keynote address at the opening session today of the south-wide cotton acreage reduction convention here, told delegates to the convention that cotton acreage must be cut at least 25 per cent if the southern farmer is to prosper.

Need for More Foods.
Under the plan outlined by Mr. Wannamaker, campaigns to insure increased food and feed crops and decrease in cotton acreage will be placed in the hands of the state commissioners of agriculture, extension service officials, bankers' committees and representatives of American cotton associations in the various states.

"All who realize the paramount importance of this campaign to the cotton farmer and economic life of the entire south will cooperate and push the work to a successful conclusion," Mr. Wannamaker said in urging that cotton today is selling below the cost of production. "We should immediately take steps to organize the cotton producing industry of the entire south, so as to stabilize profits along these lines. It is only in this way that permanent prosperity can be brought to the south and the entire nation benefited. If this is not done the cotton producer is doomed to sink to a lower standard of living."

Records of 30 years give proof, he declared, that every effort on the part of the southern cotton farmer to increase food, feed and foreign output, and other money crops besides cotton have resulted in higher cotton prices.

DAIRY INDUSTRY TWO LOSE LIVES INCREASE URGED FROM GAS FUMES

Georgia and the south offers every opportunity for a great development of the dairy industry, in the opinion of dairy experts attending the annual convention of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers at the Biltmore hotel. The dairy division of the association held its annual banquet at the Piedmont hotel Wednesday night, the program being featured by a discussion of dairy policies for the south, led by J. H. McClain, of the bureau of dairying at Washington.

Addresses at this convention, as well as at the annual meeting of agricultural colleges, extension forces, which ended Tuesday, have developed the charge that Smith-Hughes vocational teachers are encroaching on the field of the county agents, and speakers have urged that the duties of the two sets of instructors be more clearly defined to prevent overlapping.

Increase Is Shown.

Mr. McClain in his address Wednesday, stated that Georgia had shown a 10 per cent increase in its dairy industry for 1925 and urged that at least a 20 per cent gain be made as the goal for 1926. He urged that all efforts be made to grow in the state, and stressed particularly the importance of alfalfa as a roughage crop for dairy herds. An improvement in the grade of cattle as well as an increase numerically, was urged by all speakers.

Following an address of welcome by Mayor Walter A. Sims, and the response by Clarence Owsley, of Fort Worth, Texas, president of the association, the opening address of the general session Wednesday was made by President A. M. Schiele of the Georgia College of Agriculture at Athens. Taking as his subject the more efficient functioning of the rural school, Dr. Schiele declared the south is facing an alluring future provided the educational situation is handled with true justice, wisdom and moderation.

"We must consolidate, develop and organize the rural schools," said Dr. Schiele. "We have a product to develop and make into an acceptable finished article. It is the brains of the boys and girls of the south. I cannot but feel that the time has arrived when constructive work can be done along this line, and a ready response to the necessity of defining action will be gladly made by the rank and file of the people of the south."

Director Long Speaks.

Director W. W. Long, of Clemson college, South Carolina, discussed the alleged encroachment of Smith-Hughes workers on the field of county agents. Speaking on the necessity of defining more clearly the work of the two agencies he said:

"The rapid development of both forces makes it necessary that a clear understanding be established between the two fields of work. In the last analysis county agents in agriculture and home economics are the leaders in the work in regard to crops, commodities and farm enterprises, while vocational teachers should center activity on agricultural instruction in their respective schools."

Major H. C. Fiske, of the United States engineers, of Chattanooga, Tenn., stressed the importance of water power and water navigation in the development of the south in a paper on "The Power-Navigation Situation in the Tennessee Basin."

The general session this morning will be devoted to a discussion of regional cooperative research projects between the states and the federal government and of the influence of commerce and manufacturing on the development of agricultural regions.

The Atlanta Constitution MASKED PLAYERS CONTEST

I herewith submit the names of and the slogans for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Players whom I believe were the ones who appeared on the screen at Loew's Grand theater in this city's issue of the Masked Players Contest. Any slogan, if accepted by this week's Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer organization in publicity and advertising.

REMEMBER—that the names of the five players appearing this week must be written on this coupon. HOLD this coupon and the other three coupons until end of contest, then send all FOUR coupons in ONE envelope to the Masked Players Contest, The Constitution, unless this course is followed the coupon will not be considered in the contest.

Slogan Writing Is Popular Sport In Picture Contest

The game of guessing the names of screen stars who appear in masks in The Constitution's Masked Players contest now in progress at Loew's Grand theater goes merrily on, and numerous telephone messages and personal calls show that widespread interest is being shown in the game which carries with it rewards totalling more than $500 to the winners.

This is the second week of the contest and the second film shows a group of three masked players. The first group of five masked players ran last week at Loew's Grand is being repeated so that persons who did not enter last week can get coupon blanks from The Constitution and enter this week.

This will be the last week that the groups are repeated. There is space for the names of eight players and their eight slogans on the coupon published in The Constitution this week. Writing the slogans for the stars who are identified is an important part of the contest. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios have provided good slogans for their stars, and the best set of slogans together with the correct list of the names of the stars will win the first prize of $125. Other big prizes are $75, $50, $25, $15 each, and there are 100 prizes of $1 each. There are three $5 prizes, eighteen box parties and 75 pairs of tickets to Loew's Grand theater.

Every day you are given many clues and hints in this newspaper to help you guess the mysterious players, just as today hints on a famous matinee idol are given—here are a few of the created "clues" on the screen, he plays the mighty "Messala" in "Ben Hur," and plays opposite Mae Murray in "The Masked Bride."

One of our two on this week's group are women; both famous beauties. One is seen being painted by Howard Chandler Christy (and the artist gives you a very good hint in the picture) and the other is famous for her work in "Lady of the Night" and "The Snob." She recently triumphed in the "Power of Love" film. The Christy model was a star in "Little Old New York."

ROME MAN ANNOUNCES STATE LEGION PLANS

Constitution Bureau.

Rome, Ga., February 3.—(Special.)—Plans for a state-wide membership campaign to be launched during the week beginning March 8, have been begun by the Georgia department of the American legion, according to an announcement issued today from department headquarters by Joe M. Carr, department adjutant. Twenty thousand legionnaires by March 13 is the goal set by department headquarters.

In making announcement of the forthcoming membership campaign, Adjutant Carr stated that it was absolutely essential that that number of legionnaires be enrolled in order that the department of Georgia might have sufficient representation at the national convention next fall in Philadelphia to successfully bid for the 1928 convention of the American legion.

The state-wide membership campaign will be headed by Captain M. S. Eddy, of Riverside military academy, Gainesville. Others who have been appointed to serve upon the committee include Major Quimby C. Melton, Griffin; George Cowart, Albany; A. L. Crowe, Marietta; and Asa W. Candler, Basil Stockbridge and Harry Wallestein, all of Atlanta. Other prominent legionnaires will be appointed throughout the state within the next week or so.

Hanford McNider, assistant secretary of war and past national commander of the American legion, who is shortly to visit Fort Benning, has been invited by Homer Watkins, adjutant of the American legion, to deliver addresses at Atlanta, Columbus, Augusta, Savannah and several other of the larger cities of the state in the interest of the legion membership campaign.

Adjutant Carr stated that the membership campaign now being conducted by the Argonne post of Atlanta, is only incidental to the state-wide campaign to be launched next month. He predicted that while the goal set in Atlanta is 2,000 members by February 5, Argonne post would have between 4,000 and 5,000 members by the time the national gathering is held in Philadelphia next fall.

It was pointed out by Adjutant Carr that in the event the Georgia department succeeded in getting the 1928 national convention for Atlanta, approximately 75,000 visitors, including legionnaires and their families would be brought to Atlanta for the duration of the week's convalescence, many of whom would, perhaps, remain longer, and that at least $25,000 would be spent by these visitors.

Aside from the material aspect of the gathering, the convention itself undoubtedly would be the most spectacular event of any ever held in the south, it was stated.

Minister Gets Call.

Rome, Ga., February 3.—(Special.)—First church of La Grange has called Dr. J. E. Sammons of First Baptist church, Rome, to minister here, yet given the La Grange church his answer. He says he has the call under consideration and will make a decision within a few days. Dr. Sammons said today that he had had no conference with a representative of the La Grange church and that the call was a surprise to him.

Before coming to First church four years ago, Dr. Sammons was pastor of First Baptist church at Griffin for 11 years.

GEORGIA LAW FROSH ELECT CRIM AS HEAD

Athens, Ga., February 3.—(Special.)—Elmer B. Crim, of Manchester, has been elected president of the freshman law class at the University of Georgia.

Other officers for the class chosen are: Robert Morris, Douglasville, vice president; John E. Broadnax, Atlanta, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Marguerite Jones, Athens, historian.

EXPERTS PRICE WANTED ON BONDS

City council this afternoon will be asked to follow a recommendation of the finance committee to send Comptroller B. Grady to Boston to confer with leading bond attorneys of the nation relative to the legality of his proposal for the issuance of $8,000,000 in bonds to provide for schools, sewers and other municipal improvements.

This course was decided upon at a meeting of the committee Wednesday, following failure of the body to agree upon any legal plan by which the bonds can be issued without a revision of the city tax rate or the raising of tax assessments.

The West plan calls for the flotation of the issue tentatively allocated as follows: Schools, $2,500,000; sewers and water mains, $2,500,000; viaducts, $1,000,000, and city hall, $1,000,000.

He proposes to spend the proceeds of the issue as improvements are needed.

City Attorney James L. Mayson has approved the plan, but the finance committee decided to seek the advice of expert bond attorneys who have been consulted in other Atlanta bond problems.

The committee will attempt to get the ruling as early as possible, because it is the purpose of the committee to recommend that the bond election be submitted to voters of Atlanta at the democratic primary March 24.

CENTRAL CIVIC LEAGUE FORMED TO COMBAT VICE

The name of the South Side Civic league was changed to the Central Civic League of Atlanta and a new South Side Civic league formed at an all-day meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. E. Andrews, of 23 Pulliam street. Membership in the new Central Civic League of Atlanta will be restricted to fifty, according to Mrs. Andrews, chairman. More than 200 new members are reported to have joined the rejuvenated South Side Civic league, and the following officers were elected for 1926: Mrs. J. R. Chestnut, chairman; Mrs. M. Y. Belle Isle, vice chairman; Mrs. M. Y. Rutherford, secretary; Mrs. Howard Adcock, recording secretary, and Mrs. C. L. Huss, treasurer.

The following officers were elected for the Central Civic League of Atlanta: Mrs. J. E. Andrews, chairman; Mrs. C. L. Huss, vice chairman; Mrs. M. Y. Belle Isle, secretary; Mrs. M. Y. Rutherford, recording secretary; and Mrs. Howard Adcock, treasurer.

The newly-formed Central Civic league will study civic conditions, combat vice, and use its influence toward law enforcement and relief and welfare work.

JONES BROTHERS MUST SERVE TIME

Richmond, Va., February 3.—(AP)—The two-year sentence imposed upon Newfield T. Jones and Winfield Jones by the Maryland district court in September for conspiracy against the United States, will stand, the United States circuit court of appeals decided in an opinion handed today to-day affirming the decision of the lower court. The two were indicted along with six others, who formed the Maryland Drug and Chemical company, and sold denatured alcohol for use in manufacturing intoxicating liquors.

The Jones brothers—Newfield, a former assistant prohibition director of Georgia, and Winfield, formerly a Washington newspaper correspondent—were the only two who appealed their case.

Appeal in the case of the Jones brothers was based on contention that they did not conspire to violate section 18 of the prohibition law, which forbids the manufacture, sale or advertising of any article intended for use in the unlawful manufacture of intoxicating liquor. It was argued that the article in itself must be made with this intent, and that their purchase of denatured alcohol was not a violation, because it had already been made unfit for intoxicating liquors by a government distiller.

The court held that while the "argument was ingenious," it was scarcely convincing, as they had violated the statute when they conspired to offer denatured alcohol for sale for beverage purposes. It was held that the defendants knew the denatured alcohol was to be sold to persons who would take out the denaturing compounds.

City council this afternoon will be asked to follow a recommendation of the finance committee to send Comptroller B. Grady to Boston to confer with leading bond attorneys of the nation relative to the legality of his proposal for the issuance of $8,000,000 in bonds to provide for schools, sewers and other municipal improvements.

This course was decided upon at a meeting of the committee Wednesday, following failure of the body to agree upon any legal plan by which the bonds can be issued without a revision of the city tax rate or the raising of tax assessments.

The West plan calls for the flotation of the issue tentatively allocated as follows: Schools, $2,500,000; sewers and water mains, $2,500,000; viaducts, $1,000,000, and city hall, $1,000,000.

He proposes to spend the proceeds of the issue as improvements are needed.

City Attorney James L. Mayson has approved the plan, but the finance committee decided to seek the advice of expert bond attorneys who have been consulted in other Atlanta bond problems.

The committee will attempt to get the ruling as early as possible, because it is the purpose of the committee to recommend that the bond election be submitted to voters of Atlanta at the democratic primary March 24.

CEMENT AND LUMBER PLANTS ARE BURNED

Jacksonville, February 3.—(AP)—Fire of undetermined origin tonight destroyed the warehouse and office buildings of the Carolina Portland Cement company and a portion of the plant and stock of the Walker Lumber company here. No estimate had been made at a late hour tonight of the damage.

MONTE CARLO

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

INSTALLMENT XLVI.
MONTE CARLO LOVE.

Hargrave nodded in noncommittal fashion, and Pellingham hurried off. Nina looked after him curiously. "Your friends all seem to make a sort of father confessor of you," she observed.

"It is rather my role in life," Hargrave admitted, with a faint note of bitterness in his tone.

The little party of men close to them had finished their dinner and risen to their feet. Trentino detached himself from them and approached the table where Nina de Bieni and Hargrave were seated. His expression, though apparently composed, was subtly menacing. Nina, on the other hand, upon whom his eyes were fixed, showed more than a trace of some nervous pleasure. Her lips—they were indeed beautiful—were parted in the most gently provocative of smiles. Her eyes at the same time bade the newcomer welcome, assured him of her own complete content with life, and defied him. He stood before their table in the careless attitude of an acquaintance who pauses to exchange amenities. Nevertheless, Hargrave watched his twitching hands closely.

"May I offer congratulations?" he ventured, softly.

"I, for my part, accept them gladly, Andrea," Nina replied.

"A little tableau prepared, perhaps, for my edification?" he continued, turning towards Hargrave.

Hargrave toyed with his wine glass. It amused him more to listen.

"On the other hand," Nina confided, "I should have chosen a quieter place for this wonderful dinner. It is here alone, however, that one can find the mousey de volatile prepared by an artist. No, my dear Andrea, you are vain as ever, but indeed we did not think of you. We were materialists enough to seek for the perfect dinner. You, I trust, have also enjoyed yours?"

For a moment Hargrave feared for her. Trentino's composure momentarily deserted him. His eyes glittered like spots of coal black fire

"Sir Hargrave," she begged earnestly, "could we go back to the villa at once, please?"

as he leaned forward. Hargrave, apprehending instinctively the nature of the outburst which was framing upon those quivering lips, also leaned slightly forward, tense, the veins on the back of his right hand standing out. It was as though he heard beforehand words which no man can hear addressed to a woman without retaliation. Trentino grasped the situation and paused. Notwithstanding the storm which raged within him, he realized what the words he longed to utter might cost him. He moistened his lips and drew a little breath.

"There is a small place up the hill," he said, "where, they tell me, the chef is even a greater artist."

He bowed rather like a marionette—a stiff, expressionless gesture—turned away, and rejoined his companions, who were waiting for him at the door. The little lines about Hargrave's eyes deepened. He smiled across the table.

"Nina," he confided, "I am indeed grateful to you. One felt in those few seconds that anything might happen."

Hargrave was conscious of a sensation of immense relief, almost of light-heartedness, as he walked slowly along the corridor of the Hotel de Paris to the Sporting Club. His dinner, although at times it had amused him, had seemed to him on the whole a somewhat unworthy function. He was glad it was over, prepared, if necessary, to abandon his dilute and as gently but as firmly as he could let Nina de Bieni understand the truth. He felt the impatience of a boy to meet with Violet, who had promised to be in the club. In the meantime he was at peace with all the world. He even returned the pressure of Nina's arm as she leaned against him.

Please do not hurry," she begged. "In a moment we shall be among the crowds. Our dinner has been wonderful, but this is our last minute of solitude and you have said nothing—not one of the things which a woman wants to hear from a man."

"A man has, alas, but one heart," he confided.

"I wonder how many of the so-called lovers here realize that such a thing as a heart exists?" she demanded. "They turn to their women-kind as they turn to their golf, their cocktails, or any of the light diversions of life. They never even think of allowing the claims of one woman to interfere with their diversions with another. You used a strange word, dear friend. One loves in Monte Carlo without a heart."

"Aren't you a little cynical?" he ventured.

"Men have done their best to make me so," she replied. "I cared for him, of course, in a way; but how much of the heart do you suppose Andrea Trentino ever showed me? He was a man of sentiment when I first knew him, before misfortune made him callous—but of heart, no. And you, my friend, you have a gentle way with women—the way that women love—but how much of heart enters into your dalliance?"

"How many people here ask for the serious thing?" he countered, a little evasively. "This is a place of light attachments rather than of great passions. I am inclined to fancy, too, that the gambling fever which attacks us all more or less weakens one's capacity for the other emotions."

They emerged from the lift and passed along the last few yards of corridor.

"I think," she reflected, "you are the first man I have ever asked for bread who has not even offered me a stone."

"Then you should feel more than usually grateful to me," he answered. "It is the women who are content with the second best things who subconsciously alter men's standards."

"So our evening's flirtation," she mused, sadly, "ends in a philosophical diatribe."

"It ends, dear Nina," he replied, "with the one compliment which a woman ought to appreciate from a man—I refuse to offer you the lesser things."

They passed into the crowded rooms, Hargrave full of anticipation. Nina, her spirit of victory lost, felt mechanically gratified by the homage rendered to her beauty and successful toilette, but carrying with her the sense of failure. They lingered on the outskirts of one of the roulette tables, where Robert and Sadie Wegges were playing. The latter's piquant little face was alight with interest. She was seated in the chef's chair, holding a handful of plaques, which she gave one by one to Robert to place upon the table. Nina looked across at her curiously.

"It is the real spirit of youth, that," she declared; "the genuine capacity for enthusiasm I find her charming."

"I, too," he admitted. "For once my young protegee has shown good taste."

They passed on, and presently became separated in the crush. Nina paused to talk with a group of acquaintances. Hargrave felt an eager little touch upon his arm.

"At last!" Violet exclaimed, with a sigh of relief.

He turned towards the bar, and they found two retired chairs in the annex. Violet was looking a little pale. Something of the buoyancy had been lost, but which seemed to rob her of some of her girlishness. In her new gravity, however, he found an added sweetness, although just then it was apparent that she was nervous and ill at ease.

"Sir Hargrave," she begged, earnestly, "could we go back to the villa now, at once, please?"

"But why?" he asked.

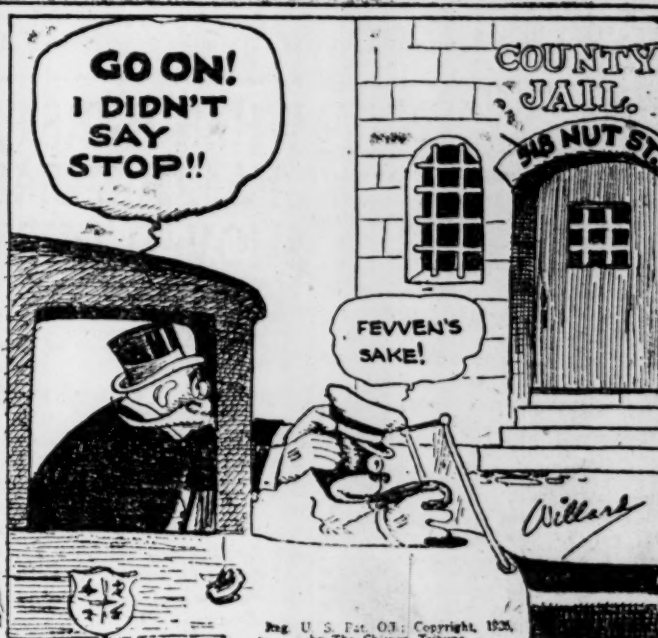

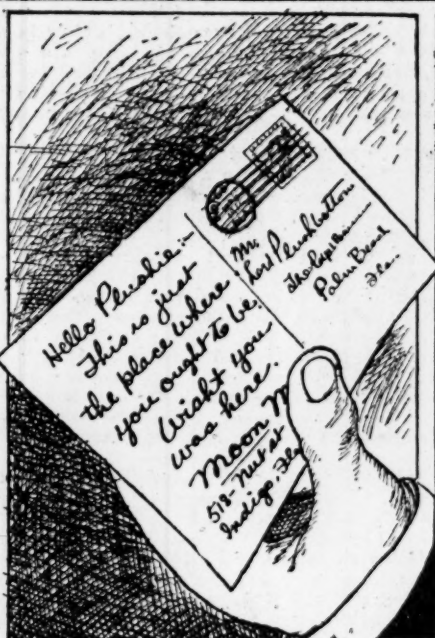

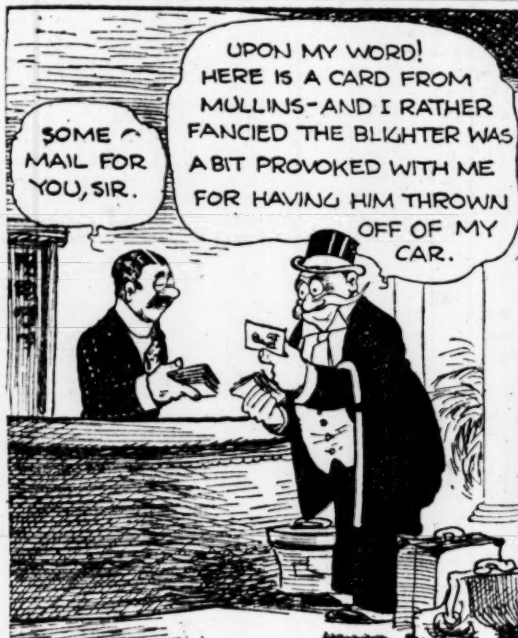

"I know you will laugh at me," she said. "You don't believe in resentments, and you are never afraid of anything, but I am—I am afraid that something is going to happen tonight."

ATLANTA NOT TO PAY TAXES ON AIR FIELD

Hapeville city council Tuesday night voted to exempt Atlanta from payment of taxes on Candler flying field, Atlanta's air port, but declined to relieve the municipality from paying double walk-paving assessments of above $300.

The sidewalk borders the portion of the field which runs along Virginia avenue, and it was pointed out, either Hapeville or Atlanta should be forced to stand the cost. Hapeville council declined to shoulder the burden and pay for the paving.

ROSE TELLS KIWANIS OF STATE'S PROGRESS

Value of manufactured goods in Georgia now exceeds annually the worth of agricultural products, according to statistics quoted by J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, in a speech delivered at the meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Ansley hotel.

Mr. Rose quoted figures to show the great increase in value of manufactured products in Georgia and of the big expansion in industry, particularly in the last decade.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

The War Spirit of the Colonies.

THE FIRST CONTINENTAL CONGRESS HAD THE RESULT OF UNITING THE VARIOUS COLONIES FOR CONCERTED ACTION, AND A WAVE OF PATRIOTIC FEELING SWEEP THE LAND.

MANY WHIGS WHO HAD BEEN OPPOSED TO SEPARATING FROM ENGLAND NOW CHANGED THEIR VIEWS AND URGED COMPLETE INDEPENDENCE.

MEANWHILE PITT AND BURKE, FRIENDS OF THE COLONIES, URGED THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT TO ADOPT CONCILIATORY MEASURES TOWARD THE AMERICANS.

LORD NORTH, THEN PRIME MINISTER, OFFERED TO EXEMPT ANY COLONY THAT WOULD RAISE ITS QUOTA BUT THIS PLAN WAS A FAILURE.

ON FEBRUARY 26, 1775, GENERAL GAGE SENT A FORCE OF REDCOATS TO SEIZE SOME CANNON WHICH HE HEARD THE PROVINCIALS HAD STORED AT SALEM. BLOCKED BY MINUTE MEN UNDER COLONEL PICKERING, THE BRITISH RETIRED WITHOUT BLOODSHED.

IN MARCH, 1775, PATRICK HENRY ROUSED THE VIRGINIA BURGESSSES TO A HIGH PITCH OF PATRIOTIC ENTHUSIASM BY A FIERY SPEECH IN WHICH HE DECLARED THE HOUR HAD STRUCK FOR THE COLONISTS TO RALLY AND FIGHT FOR FREEDOM. HIS WORDS "LIBERTY OR DEATH" BECAME THE SLOGAN OF THE VIRGINIA RIFLEMEN.

Keeping Your Schoolgirl Complexion

By IRENE CASTLE

Copyrighted 1925 by P. O. Beauty Features

Avoid Risking Your ComplexionTo an unproved soap Use only a true complexion soap, and then, this way

MODERN beauty culture starts now at the wash basin. Leading skin specialists urge the use of a certain type of soap to cleanse the pores and free the skin of blemish-inviting matter. Youth is thus preserved, the skin texture kept soft, supple and naturally lovely.

But note particularly: By a "certain type of soap," a true complexion soap now is meant. Some soaps are excellent for one purpose or another, yet perilous to the skin.

For that reason, Palmolive is so widely urged. It is a unique soap, made by experts in beauty solely for one purpose; to protect the complexion. A soap made to be used freely and lavishly on the skin. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Before Palmolive came, women were told, "use no soap on your face." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Remember that point when tempted to "try" an ordinary soap. A good complexion is too priceless for experiment. Launder, cleanse with any soap you wish. But when beauty is at stake, take care. Use Palmolive according to the following rule—Nature's formula to "Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion."

The daily rule that thousands follow now

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—that is all.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away. Just do this and your skin will become soft and lovely—wrinkles will be less a problem as the years advance. Costs but 10 cents.

Palmolive costs but 10c the cake because of great volume and manufacturing efficiency... so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for the face. Obtain a cake today. See what a difference one week's use will make in your complexion. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

Rosilyn moved off in the direction of Lydia's room.

and now." She pointed to the envelopes in Landis's writing, lying on the floor.

"I won't."

"I think when you fully understand how determined I am you will burn them—here and now—in this empty grate."

"Why should I?" The outward signs of tranquility continued, though Lydia knew that she was losing it.

"There has been a fool's trick, anyhow, to throw Lambie's refusals in his wife's face, even though the letters had been written long before his marriage."

"You will burn them," said Rosilyn, slowly and steadily, her clear eyes never for an instant forsaking the other's flushed face, "because I have too much regard for my husband's happiness to leave such a weapon against him in the hands of the woman I now know you to be. You are utterly selfish. You are unscrupulous."

"You are the victim of a habit which—unless checked at once—will further undermine your whole moral character, so that you won't even know the difference between right and wrong. Do you think, then, realizing all this, as I do, that I would leave one stone unturned to remove you—such as you—from the path of one I love?"

"You love him, do you? Then let me tell you it's a sheer waste of time. He only married you because of the money."

"Rosilyn held up a warning hand. 'Enough of that. I am not here to stand impudence and abuse. My guests are waiting for me downstairs, but I do not intend to leave your room until you burn those documents.'"

"Would you like to read them first?"

"Rosilyn's lip twitched in scorn. 'I am not in the habit of reading other people's letters. They are not addressed to me.'"

"Tomorrow," Rosilyn triumphed. (Copyright, 1926, by The Constitution.)

Uncle Ray Says

If you had been in ancient Rome when the law of Tiberius Gracchus was carried, I am sure that you would have heard much shouting and many hurrahs. A young man—not yet 30 years old—had done something to give lands to the "plebs," or common people.

Yet the life of this tribune was in danger. The election of tribunes came again, and the name of Gracchus was put forward once more. Angry senators were not willing to have him elected. They formed a mob, and killed him with some of his followers in the streets of Rome.

"Into the Tiber with their bodies!" cried the mob, and the remains of Tiberius and the others were cast into the river.

During these stormy months Caius Gracchus—barely 20 years old—was

SOCIETY PIRATES CAPTURE HEARTS, NOT SILVER AND GOLD

Little Gretna Green Bride Will Be Central Figure At Mrs. Green Warren's Party

BY BEVERLY BURGESS.

In Atlanta there is a very DANGEROUS group of girls who holdily dub themselves "The Pirates."

No secret is there about their platform: "Treasure Island," in its multiplicity of nefarious undertakings, pales into insignificance in comparison with these up-to-date flapper pirates!

Mere appropriation of gold and silver does not interest them—of both they have plenty!

And not to the high seas do they go for their activities! Dry-land robbers are these! There is a realm which has no boundaries. A kingdom which has no length, breadth, height, thickness or circumference!

Theirs is a space of many dimensions and the fundamentals of time, length and mass are not involved!

Psyche's Realm.

If I were to tell you the names of these female Atlanta Pirates of today, you would understand forthwith there could be only one realm for the activities of such modern Psyches—the one over which his lordship, Dan Cupid, once supreme.

No other sovereign do they acknowledge!

Especially appropriate is it that these "Heart Pirates" should select a date tonight at the Merrimakers' hall in February on which to give a dance.

Tonight as confederates—or perhaps only smiling victims—of the "Heart Pirates" will assist in the evening's entertainment.

One word of warning, please—before you come, anchor your heart strings securely for these dangerous girls are not Pirates in name only.

The Joy of Motherhood

JUST how to make motherhood a joy is one of the most important things in the world for you to know, right now. Motherhood is the greatest thing; use the simple method of an eminent physician who has dedicated his life's work to this great accomplishment for your benefit.

"I was in labor only 25 minutes with my last child, but suffered agonies with three previous children," writes an enthusiastic mother who used Mother's Friend. Great has been the praise of Mother's Friend for over three generations.

"Mother's Friend aids the skin and muscles to expand more easily during the constant readjustment of expectancy, month after month, right up to childbirth."

Mother's Friend is safe for you to use because it contains no harmful drugs and is applied externally.

Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using it tonight—and make your Mother's Friend Regular Co., Dept. 32, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

U. D. C. Chapter Appoints Chairmen At Recent Meeting

Fulton chapter, U. D. C., held a monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon in the palm room of the Piedmont hotel. Mrs. Charles L. Anderson, newly-elected president, presided, and announced the committee chairmen appointed to serve for the next two years: Mrs. H. G. Andrews, chairman of the ways and means committee; Mrs. J. W. Keadley, Soldiers' home; Mrs. J. R. Smith, visiting committee; Mrs. J. W. Hollingsworth, membership; Miss Martha Anderson, music; Miss Celeste McNeal, program, and Mrs. E. B. Williams, publicity.

Mrs. Anderson, a member of the board of trustees of Soldiers' home, made a report of the meeting of the executive board on January 20. Mrs. H. G. Andrews told of plans for a Valentine carnival for the benefit of the chapter, to be held about February 19, and requested donations for same. Four new members were introduced by the president and given a welcome.

Mrs. G. W. Grubbs, Mrs. Pearl I. Cade, Mrs. Edgar Alexander and Mrs. T. D. Quinby, Mrs. Leon F. Johnson, Mrs. Claud Kimbrell, Mrs. Charles E. Wilkins and Miss Mary Woodall applied for membership papers. Mrs. Escelle Rike, a member of the Jefferson, Ga., chapter, U. D. C., who had recently visited several of the Soldiers' homes in the south, upon request of the president, told of a visit to the Tennessee Soldiers' home and to the different U. D. C. chapters in Nashville, Tenn.

Captain John R. Hannon, past state commander of the Spanish-American War veterans, told the ladies of a bill which is being introduced in congress and being sponsored by the Spanish-American War veterans, to establish a United States Soldiers' home near Atlanta. Mrs. E. B. Williams, whose brother and husband are Spanish-American War veterans, offered a resolution endorsing the bill, which was carried unanimously.

Mrs. W. E. Lomax, Mrs. Lela Hanfland, Mrs. E. B. Williams, and Mrs. J. W. Hollingsworth, expressing pleasure in being able to assist the many Spanish-American War veterans who were some of Confederate veterans.

After the business meeting adjourned, Miss Martha Anderson and Miss Celeste McNeal gave two readings, which were greatly appreciated. The chapter will meet March 2 at the Piedmont hotel.

Tea for Lovely Bride.

This afternoon, in the darlingest little new love nest of one charming Atlanta bride, there is to be a party given for another girl-bride of more recent date.

Mrs. Green Doud Warren is entertaining for Mrs. Robert Kilgore. Doesn't that sound all proper and everything?

Too much dignity entirely for such young shoulders?

Were I to say Irene Thomas Warren was entertaining for Ruth Millard Kilgore you would immediately catch your breath in happy recognition!

But as long as these girls—our friends, a cup of tea and an opportunity of again telling Ruth how much she is missed at the seminary.

Twelve friends of this little school bride have been asked by Irene to come in for a cozy little game of bridge, a cup of tea and an opportunity of again telling Ruth how much she is missed at the seminary.

No doubt the like of this pleases Ruth very much, but if you were only to hear her tell of the lovely rugs, darling console table, boudoir lamps and chaise longue which were holding her immediate interests, you would really begin to realize that to house-keeping and—incidentally, perhaps—a husband, Ruth is really wedded. This will be a very bright afternoon party.

A Happy Return.

A matter of sincere congratulations to hosts of Atlanta friends is the announcement that the Williams Caves of America are coming to Atlanta to live.

Never has there been a more popular or darling girl rooted in this town than Catherine Giddings Cays, the only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Giddings and sister of Dr. Glenville Giddings.

Catherine had many school-girl friends at Washington seminary. She is a member of the Pi Pi sorority, a member of the Bulldogs and a Pink Arrow girl during war activities. After she went to Hollins school, and on her return made a debut in the club with many close friends. She leaves a popular figure at all of the social functions of the young crowd these days.

Since her marriage to William Cays, a prominent citizen of America, she has made her home in that town.

And now that the Williams Cays are coming here to permanently reside there will be warm welcome waiting them from all of Atlanta.

Silver Cloud Council

To Meet Today.

Silver Cloud council, No. 1, Degree of Paganism, ladies' auxiliary of the Improved Order of Red Men, will hold an interesting meeting this evening at 7:30 o'clock at Red Men's Wigwag.

The auto race, which has been creating quite a bit of enthusiasm in the council, is finished, and the losing side is to entertain the winning side in a splendid program to be arranged and refreshments will be served. All members of the council are urged to attend.

Pi Pi Sorority

To Give Dance.

The Pi Pi sorority will entertain at a dance Thursday evening, February 11, at the Druid Hills Golf club at which a large number of the college contingent will assemble.

Sylvan Hills Club

Holds Meeting.

The Sylvan Hills Woman's club met Thursday evening at 8 o'clock with the president, Mrs. S. C. Hayes, 63 Katherwood drive.

After a business session, which consisted of reports from committees, and the adoption of a number of resolutions pertaining to the welfare of the club, a musical program was enjoyed. Piano selections were rendered by Mrs. Walter L. Simmons and Mrs. Mary E. Jones, a solo dance by Mrs. James, and a reading by Mrs. O. C. Voyles. Others taking part were Mrs. A. J. Gilbert, Mrs. J. A. Watson, Mrs. H. C. Steed and Mrs. J. C. Slade.

The next meeting will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. A. J. Gilbert, 34 Woodbourne.

Medical Society To Give Benefit Bridge.

A large benefit bridge-party will be given under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the Fulton County Medical society on Wednesday, February 10, at the Ansley Hotel roof garden. The hour is from 12:30 until 5 o'clock.

The tables are $2 each, and reservations may be made by calling Mrs. E. C. Thrash, Main 4400-J; Mrs. Clinton Reed, HEmlOCK 3573, or Mrs. George Niles, HEmlOCK 3034.

Moving Picture At Smillie School.

The second episode of the serial, "Leather Stockings," will be shown this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Smillie school; also the comedy, "Buster Brown's Nightmare." A full attendance is desired.

Funeral services for Mrs. Edwin F. Meyer, of 220 Walker avenue, who died Tuesday at the home, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. The Rev. L. E. Roberts will officiate, and interment will be in Crest Lawn cemetery.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Meyer is survived by two sons, Edwin F. Meyer, Jr., and Joseph Frantz Meyer; parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Foley; three sisters, Mrs. G. T. Eubanks, Miss Alma Foley and Miss Era Foley, and a brother, J. M. Foley.

Art Exposition Will Be Held At Woman's Club

Hidden treasures of art and craftsmanship, many of them hitherto unknown except to fortunate owners, are coming to light in response to the invitation of the Atlanta Woman's club, which is planning Atlanta's first exposition of art, to be held March 1 to 4.

"We hear every day of some rare old portrait, some bit of treasured antique furniture with a historic story attached, a piece of precious tapestry, a collection of lace worthy of a museum," said Mrs. James R. Little, chairman of the art committee of the club and in general charge of the exposition.

"But we would like to hear from every Atlanta owner of antique furniture, paintings, miniatures, tapestries, lace, bric-a-brac, worthy of placing on exhibition, for this is to be a loan exhibit and we expect to make a large enough and beautiful so as to be worthy of Atlanta. No fear need be attached for the safety of such household treasures, for there will be ample fire protection, full insurance, and a guard of constables will be constantly in charge, watching every article, and the smaller things will be kept in locked glass show cases."

The women of the art committee of the club have been busily engaged for weeks in planning for the first real art exposition ever held in Atlanta, and have arranged to use the banquet hall and the principal rooms in the Woman's club building, and the beautiful auditorium will be devoted to special programs. It is expected to charge a small admission fee to cover the expenses. Mrs. Emma Garrett Boyd, known as a connoisseur of art, is chairman of selection of exhibits and will have charge of accepting and arranging them. Owners desiring to make an exhibit are requested to communicate with Mrs. Boyd at 73 Myrtle street.

The cooperation of the Atlanta Art association has been enthusiastically promised by the president, Mr. J. J. Haverly, and several civic and patriotic societies will lend their efforts to the work.

The officers in charge of plans for the exhibit are Mrs. James R. Little, chairman; Mrs. C. K. Ayre, co-chairman; Mrs. George B. Himm, chairman of fine arts for the Woman's club; Mrs. Samuel P. Inman, chairman of fine arts for the General Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Emma Garrett Boyd, chairman of selection.

The exhibits will not be limited to any period or any country, but everything considered sufficiently beautiful as a work of art will be eligible.

DAILY CALENDAR OF SOCIAL EVENTS

Atlanta Junior league members will sponsor Lucile Fashion show at Biltmore hotel.

Mrs. E. L. Osborn will entertain at a bridge-tee at her home, honoring Miss Elizabeth Snow, a popular bride-elect.

Mrs. J. J. Ruskin will entertain at a bridge-tee at her home on West Peachtree street, honoring Miss Laura Jenkins, a bride-elect.

The members of the Pirates' club will entertain at the Merrimakers' club.

There will be a scrip dance at the West End Woman's club this evening.

A reception will be given by the Atlanta chapter of the Hadassah at its clubrooms on Washington street in honor of Mrs. Archibald Silverman, of Providence, R. I.; Mrs. Edward Jacobs, of New York city, and Maurice Samuels, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Calhoun will entertain at dinner at the Biltmore Fashion show this evening in honor of their guest, Miss Sarah Hardcastle, of Nashville, Tenn.

Fitzhugh Knox, Jr., will be host this evening at 7:30 o'clock at a dinner party at his home on Piedmont avenue in celebration of his birthday.

Mrs. Green Warren will be hostess at a bridge party this afternoon at her home on Peachtree street in honor of Mrs. Bob Kilgore, a recent bride.

Miss Mary Bettis will compliment Miss Elizabeth Hall with a bridge-tee today.

Christian Church Aid To Serve Dinner.

The Ladies Aid Society of the West End Christian church will serve a turkey dinner at the church, corner Gordon and Dunn streets, on Friday of this week. Dinner will be served at any time between noon and 8 o'clock, and the proceeds will go toward meeting bills incurred in the recent erection of a Sunday school addition to the church. The public is invited.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Flu

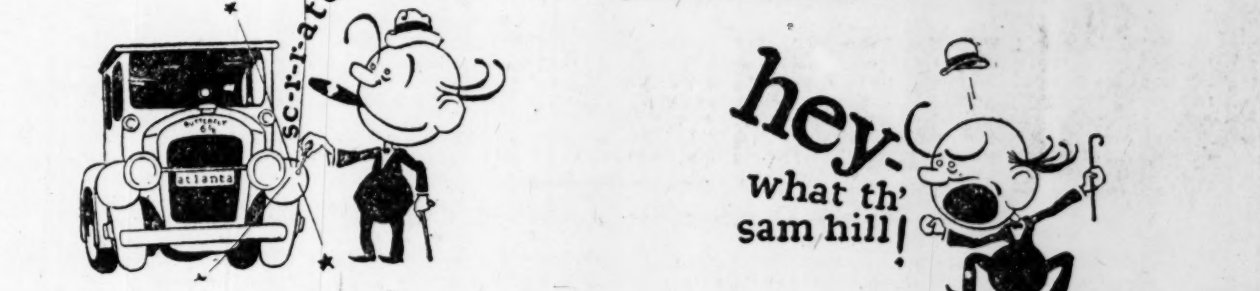

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful. With your watch in y r hand, take the

The Day in Finance

By
R. L. BARNUM

New York, February 3.—(AP)—Stocks were weak on the breaking off of the negotiations for settling the coal strike which has now been going on for over five months, but the stock market as a whole was strong. However, the big outside public is doing little or nothing in the stock market, being content to hold long stocks in expectations of getting higher prices. Most of the transactions now appearing on the tape represent activities of pools.

Call loans on prime bank accounts declined a half of one per cent to 3 1/2. Time money was quiet with some out at 4 5/8. Call money opened at 4 per cent, down a full one per cent, compared with yesterday with offerings large and with 3 1/2 per cent quoted on the on-side market. The decline in stock exchange money was largely responsible for the strength displayed by the stock market.

Sterling was off a small fraction but still only a small fraction below par. Canadian Pacific was up 10 points compared with yesterday's low on good buying from England. Canadian Pacific paying 10 per cent dividends, 7 per cent from transportation and 3 per cent from outside investment—the same as Union Pacific, was before the war considered a prime investment by Englishmen. During the war Englishmen parted with many of their investments to subscribe to war loans. Canadian Pacific has not been repurchased since the end of the war because the decline in sterling was equivalent to paying a dividend of 10 per cent. With sterling now back practically to par Englishmen are buying back their Canadian Pacific.

Oil Merger Rumors.

Further advances in crude and refined oil representing adjustments to the price advance announced early this week in mid-continent crude together with rumors of coming oil company mergers created a strong demand today for stocks of oil companies. According to the rumors heard here today bankers are trying to merge Associated Oil, Marland, General Petroleum and Tidewater. There is no question but that large oil mergers are in the making for the purpose of stabilizing the industry. Trustworthy details however, are lacking.

One valuable piece of information coming out of the prolonged anthracite coal strike is that there is a permanent market for coke in this part of the country which for generations has depended entirely upon hard coal for fuel. It is understood here that U. S. Steel is about to begin spending $3,000,000 for putting in 300 additional coke ovens.

From today's weekly iron and steel trade reviews it appears that with the steel mills and the railroads able to make prompt deliveries and consumers not afraid of price increases results so far this year are disappointing to manufacturers. Average daily production of pig for January was 100,000 tons up 2 per cent compared with December. However, during the last week of January there was a drop to 104,000.

Copper Goes Up.

Copper advanced an eighth of a cent today to 14 1/8 cents, making good the predictions of the trade that higher copper prices were ahead.

American Tobacco's advance is believed to be merely belated recognition of the recent increase in the annual dividend to 88. The stock was selling at 120 when the dividend was increased but afterwards sold down with the rest of the market. As the stock has a par value of $50 a share an 88 dividend offers 16 per cent on the par value. American Tobacco is in the same place in the tobacco industry that Standard Oil of New Jersey is in the oil trade. Before the government suits under the Sherman law American Tobacco and Standard Oil of New Jersey were the parent companies of the tobacco and oil trusts.

When Pennsylvania first started to buy in the outstanding minority Norfolk & Western stock two shares of Pennsylvania par value $50 were offered for one share of Norfolk & Western par value $100. It is understood that Pennsylvania is now ready to offer three shares of its stock and

New York, February 3.—(AP)—Slightly more business was reported in the cotton market today, but buying and selling orders appeared to be evenly balanced and prices fluctuated within a few points after selling at 15.55 early. May rallied to 16.00 and closed at 15.57 compared with 16.01 at the close yesterday. The general market closed steady, net 4 points lower to 1 point higher.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 4 points. Active months showed net losses of about 2 to 6 points in early trading under further near month liquidation and a little southern selling. These early offerings were absorbed by covering or trade calling, however, and the greater part of the losses was recovered in the afternoon. March selling up from 15.14 to 15.20, and October from 15.17 to 15.20. Last prices were within 2 to 3 points of the best.

The selling of near months here was accompanied by reports of a disappointing spot demand in the south, but very little selling was reported here for southern account, while the steadiness of Liverpool was a sustaining factor.

Private cables reported hedge selling in the English market was light and had been absorbed by trade calling; also that there was a fair spot demand and continued large inquiry for cotton cloths in Lancashire.

Exports for the day were 21,093, making 5,503,029 so far this season, against 5,571,306 last year. Port re-

Livermore on Rubber Exchange.

Jesse Livermore has bought a seat on the new rubber and cocoa exchange. Evidently he expects to save commissions in trades in rubber. Shareholders of Atchison will hold a special meeting April 22, authorizing the directors to "dispose of any capital stock of the company, common or preferred, heretofore or hereafter authorized." Atchison now has $17,248,000 authorized but unused stock. Evidently the directors are getting ready to raise funds by the sale of this $17,248,000 and additional stock to shareholders at par which will give "rights" to the shareholders at Atchison selling at its present price. Since its reorganization in 1905 Atchison has increased its authorized and

MARKET VERY DULL AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, February 3.—(AP)—The cotton market was again a very dull and uninteresting affair today with extremely limited trading and fluctuations showing a spread of only 5 to 8 points. The disinclination to trade was due primarily to the immovable position of the March delivery month and the slack demand for spots. The premiums on higher grades on the one hand and the unattractive character of so large a portion of the crop on the other has discouraged any desire to trade.

At the highest of the day prices showed gains over the previous close of 2 to 4 points, and at the lowest were 3 to 8 points lower yesterday. The close was a shade above the lows, showing net losses of 1 to 3 points on old crop months and a net gain of 1 point on December.

As Liverpool cables came in about as the start was steady, first sales being 1 point up to 2 down. After a slight recession the market rallied a little later in the morning to 19.61 for March, 19.01 for May and 17.00 for October, or 2 to 4 points above previous close. At the lowest of the day reached during the late afternoon March traded down to 19.57, May to 18.90 and July to 18.27, or 5 to 8 points lower yesterday. December, in which there was but little trading, made a new low at the close of 17.55, but at that figure a point above the previous close. There was a slight rally right at the end.

Cotton goods markets were rather quiet after prompt deliveries are said to be difficult to negotiate. The demand for spots was reported rather slack in the interior, but there appeared to be little more inquiry in the local market for the actual.

Exports for the day totaled 21,093 bales.

News, Views and Reviews

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, February 3.—There was pronounced activity and interest in most all issues traded in this morning. The market was generally up, with the exception of a few issues. The leading issues were: Associated Oil, which was taken in large blocks and attained a new high at 16.00; American Tobacco, which was taken in large blocks and attained a new high at 120; and Norfolk & Western, which was taken in large blocks and attained a new high at 100.

LYNCH & CO.

New York, February 3.—Today's market was very strong with many advances were made in the foreign under leadership of the oil and specialties. Profit taking during the last hour, while causing slight reactions, was well absorbed.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, February 3.—The market continued to broaden during the afternoon and the demand for stocks at no time fell off. An advance of 1/2 a point in the price of copper stimulated the market. The leading issues were: Associated Oil, which was taken in large blocks and attained a new high at 16.00; American Tobacco, which was taken in large blocks and attained a new high at 120; and Norfolk & Western, which was taken in large blocks and attained a new high at 100.

Grain Letters.

JOHN F. CLARK & CO.

Chicago, February 3.—Fear that Argentine movement will be delayed or decreased stimulated all markets. Some also have created more interest on the part of importers, as today's trade was largely for some time past, being estimated at 11 to 13 millions, mainly Manitoba. Broom-hall requests for estimates of 600,000 world requirements, and 730,000,000 exportable surplus, which carriers at end of crop year of only 500,000,000 bushels as against 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 normally.

COAL SHARES WEAK ON CURB MARKET

New York, February 3.—(AP)—Weakness of coal company shares as a result of the third failure to settle the anthracite dispute and the strength and activity of the South American oil shares were the principal contrasting features of today's irregular curb market. Public utilities were quiet with the exception of Lehigh Power securities (new stock) which closed fractionally lower at 20.38 on total sales of over 20,000 shares.

Glen Alden Coal broke 7 1/2 points to 149 1/2 on the opening sale of 1,000 shares, but later rallied to 151 1/8, closing at that level. Lehigh Valley coal certificates dropped over 4 points to 39 1/8, and then snapped back to 40 1/2. Lehigh Coal and Navigation showed a net loss of 2 1/2 points at 110.

Standard Oil of Indiana closed 1 1/8 lower at 67 3/4 on the traditional "selling on the good news" following the declaration of an extra dividend of 25 cents, and the raising of gasoline prices 1 cent a gallon throughout its territory. Carbide and Lavo were the leaders in the South American group, touching new high records at 22 1/2 and 25 1/4, respectively.

In the industrial group, Union Carbide, in which special developments are reported to be pending, advanced about 2 points to a new high record at $14 1/2. Land company of Florida developed increased activity, closing 1 1/8 higher at 42 5/8. Goodyear Tire advanced over a point to within a hair of its year's high despite the reduction in tire prices. Trading in Electric Refrigeration died down considerably, the stock closing fractionally lower at $1 1/2. Industrial Rayon sagged to a new low despite the publication of a favorable 1925 earnings report, recent selling of this issue being attributed to the non-voting feature of the stock.

Copper shares were galvanized into activity by reports of higher prices for the red metal, duplicating the price's high.

POSTUM CEREAL TO BUY WESTERN CONCERN, REPORT

New York, February 3.—(AP)—Negotiations were approaching completion tonight for the acquisition of the California Packing company by the Postum Cereal company, which will result in a combination of food companies with total assets of more than $250,000,000.

Banking interests identified with both properties spent the day in conference in an attempt to agree upon terms of the merger. Reports were current that California Packing shares would be taken over by the Postum company on a basis equivalent to $17 1/2 a share, the price touched by the stock today on a rise of more than 100 points. The deal may involve an exchange of 1 1/2 shares of Postum for each share of California Packing.

Completion of the merger will make Postum Cereal one of the largest distributors of food products in the country. The company recently has pursued a policy of expansion through its acquisition of the Jell-O business and that of the Igeheart Flour company.

New York, February 3.—(AP)—Bullish sentiment became more pronounced in today's stock market which showed a tendency to break away on the up side, from the narrow trading area within which it has been fluctuating for the last few weeks. Easier money rates stimulated the demand for stocks with the oils, sulphurs, foods, coppers, rubbers and equipments, all giving good exhibitions of group strength. The upturn was accompanied by increased activity, the day's sales running over one and three quarters million shares.

Oil and gasoline prices were assuming nationwide proportions. Pacific Oil was the leader of that group, moving up over 2 points to 80 1/2, the highest price since the stock was admitted to trading over five years ago. Nash Motors was the spectacular individual feature, soaring nearly 4 points to 58 1/2, also a new high record, on total sales of less than 1,500 shares. Other motors which are believed to harbor a large short interest, displayed a firm undertone. Net gain of 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 points were recorded by General Motors, Mack Trucks and Willys-Overland preferred, the strength of the last named being based on reports of the retirement of a large block of that issue.

Despite the fact that the weekly steel trade reviews reported little change in the situation, a better demand was noted for these issues. United States Steel common closed fractionally higher at 133 1/4 but Sloss-Sheffield was run up 3 1/2 points to 120 1/2 and Gulf States Steel scored an extreme gain of 2 1/2 points at 88 5/8, part of which was later lost. Wall street hears persistent reports of a merger of independent steel companies, but to date there

The advance in rubber shares has been checked by the announcement of a reduction in prices by the United States Rubber company, the common stock of which showed a net gain of nearly 1 point at 83 1/2 after having sold as high as 85 3/8 earlier in the session. Goodrich closed 1 3/8 higher at 70. Higher prices for the red metal accelerated demand for the copper stocks, American Smelting recording a net gain of over 2 points at 140 3/4 after touching 141 1/2, the highest price since 1907. Federal Mining and Smelting jumped 5 points to 100, the preferred closed 3 points higher at 96 1/2, and Anaconda moved up over a point to 49.

Other outstanding industrial strong spots include Allied Chemical, American Beet Sugar preferred, American Can, American Zinc preferred, California Packing, National Lead, Third Avenue, United Drug and United Fruit, the net gains in which ran from 4 to nearly 12 points.

Rail shares lagged behind the rest of the market with revenues dropping out in the eastern coals as a result of the third failure of the anthracite conference to reach an agreement. Canadian Pacific, for which a strong foreign demand has suddenly developed, moved up to 162, the highest price since 1919, but later cancelled the day's advance realizing a net gain of 1 point. Nashville and Atlantic Coast Line also showed independent strength.

Commodity markets were mixed. Where futures advanced over a cent a bushel on additional reports of unfavorable weather in the Argentine. Cotton again fluctuated within an area of 10 points, closing slightly lower on the day. Spot wheat advanced 1 1/2 of a cent a pound lower, but the futures displayed a firm undertone. Coffee sagged 10 to 14 points in reaction of a less active demand for stocks.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent, but funds were available in the "outside market" as low as 3 1/2. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

ASSOCIATED OIL AND FOUR OTHER COMPANIES MERGE

New York, February 3.—(AP)—Negotiations were practically completed here tonight for a merger of the Associated Oil company with other western oil properties, whose identity was not revealed. Blair and company, bankers, who are engineering the combination, said that a statement probably will be given out within the next 24 hours. Wall street learned unofficially that Associated and Pan-American Western Petroleum and Transport would form the nucleus of the new combination with California Petroleum a likely unit later on.

Associated Gas and Electric System

Founded in 1852

Business Diversity

A public utility system serving a large number of moderate sized business enterprises is more likely to have a steady demand for its service than one serving a small number of large ones.

The more numerous and diverse the activities in a community are, the more likely they are to balance one another.

The Associated System serves an unusually wide variety of moderate sized business enterprises. By actual count it serves approximately 1,200 enterprises employing 25 or more persons each. While not counted, the number employing less than 25 is by far the larger group.

Of the 1,200 enterprises, over 800, or approximately 70%, are also of moderate size, employing 25 to 100 persons. Less than 29% employ 100 to 1,000 persons and only 1 1/4% employ over 1,000 persons.

The location of Associated properties in 11 states necessarily means diversity in business activities; the fact that the business enterprises served are numerous and of moderate size literally brings about "diversity within diversity."

Variety of business activities tends to produce desirable conditions for the worker and uniform business prosperity for the community. This in turn steadies the demand for utility service and stabilizes the earnings therefrom.
